

What will $100,000 buy in a house here?

By Don Staruk

The real estate market seems to have bottomed out, but a person still can't get a whole lot of house for less than $100,000 in Andover.

Only one house currently is available in Andover for less than $100,000 — a single-family, three-bedroom colonial on Essex Street for $99,900. The house has one bath and several fireplaces, but needs "some work inside" and has been on the market for some time.

"It's an older house," said Wade Tucker, a broker for Re/Max real estate, which lists the house.

Several condominiums are available for under and just over $100,000, but houses in that range don't stay on the market because that stock is all sold out, according to Mr. Tucker.

"The price of land in Andover is somewhat prohibitive, so anything that comes on, even at $150,000, $160,000, $170,000, sells because there isn't much on," he said.

Balmoral Apartments, 16 Balmoral Street, where condos are on the market for $84,900 to $95,000. The building was executive offices of the Andover Woolen Co.

Only three houses, not condominiums, have sold for less than $100,000 in Andover so far in 1992, Mr. Tucker said.

When a lot alone costs $75,000, it's difficult to find a home on a lot for under $100,000, Mr. Tucker said. And if they do come available, they sell as soon as they are listed.

"Once the ink dries, they're usually sold," he said. "We had a couple that sold the same day that were just over $100,000."

One of those was listed for $109,000, on Tewksbury Street.

"Interest rates are still decent. People are still trying to take advantage of them. And there's not that much on" the market, Mr. Tucker said.

"The market was really probably at its bottom in '89," but interest rates have stabilized the market since then,

Andover man publishes first book

By Lisa Boudreau

Don Strong, also known as Dieter Stark to his friends and colleagues in photography and literary circles, is celebrating the success of his first book, Idylls of a Young Man. The book contains his photographs, sketches and short stories. It was released last month and is available at the Andover Bookstore. Next month, it will show up in national book store chains.

The book showcases the 51-year-old Porter Road resident's talent for still life and landscape photography. All the photographs in the book are of European locales and landmarks, and the short stories have a European flavor.

"I take pictures of flowers and classical things in the European sense, like Baroque and Gothic architecture. I love to look through my (camera) lens at something like that," said Mr. Strong, pointing to a photograph he took of Napoleon's palace in France.

"I like to imagine what it might have been Kira Ventura and her mother, Ronnie Ginsberg, enjoy one of the trees at the Andover Garden Club's Festival of Trees, which was held last weekend at Old Town Hall. The tree they are admiring was put together by interior decorator Marian Chatfield of 2 Pleasant St., who also is a member of the Andover Garden Club. The festival included two dozen decorated trees. More people attended the event this year than last. Money raised from the festival goes to town-related garden club projects such as planting and maintaining municipal gardens, the garden at the Andover Historical Society's Amos Blanchard House, and other projects.

Tax rate is going up 6 percent

By Don Staruk

Selectmen Monday night voted unanimously to maintain the 120 percent tax classification shift, which effectively sets Andover's tax rate at about $14.10 per $1,000 for residential property, and $18.36 for commercial and industrial property.

That's a 6.3 percent residential increase, up from $13.26 last year, and a 5.7 percent C&I increase, up from $17.37.

The average residential property was assessed at $216,700 last year, and assessments in general did not change this year. A homeowner who would have paid $2,873 in taxes last year will pay $3,055 this year, an increase of $182.

The average C&I property in 1992 was valued at $907,800 and paid a tax of $15,768. The average value of the same property now is $864,800, a 4.7 percent decrease, and will pay a tax of $15,878, an increase of $110.

A drop in industrial property values again this year brought the C&I and personal property value total down about 6.4 per-

Diary of a young boy living in Andover

Don Mulvey, now 60 years old and a resident of High Plain Road, recently came across the diary he kept as a young boy growing up in Andover. The entries trace six months of his life from November 1944 to June 1945, when he was 12 years old. This is the third installment of the diary published in the Townsmen.

School Committee waits for information 3rd grade at Shawsheen?

By Lisa Boudreau

A proposal to add third-grade classes to the Shawsheen School didn't get past the discussion phase at last week's School Committee meeting. Shawsheen is a voluntary enrollment kindergarten-through-grade-two school.

The majority of School Committee members decided it was futile to discuss the idea until more complete budget figures are available later this school year.

"I'm 110 percent behind Shawsheen, but I don't know what's going to happen when we sit down to calculate the budget," said committee member Chris Outwin.

"I don't know what I'd be trading off," he said.

Superintendent Mark McQuillan proposed the idea at the request of committee member Susan Dalton. She believes expanding the Shawsheen School will lessen crowding in the town's four elementary schools.

The 42 second-grade students at Shawsheen will automatically enter the third grade at their neighborhood schools next year if Shawsheen isn't expanded.

Dr. McQuillan said 22 are from the West Elementary district, nine each from Bancroft and South, and two from Sanborn School. He predicts the town will have to hire two additional third-grade teachers next year regardless of whether the Shawsheen is expanded.

Larry Lewis, of Stevens Street, a parent of a Shawsheen student, said parents enthusiastically support an expanded Shawsheen program. He said the town could get a commitment for third-grade enrollment if the committee made a commitment to add the classes now.

If two third-grade classes are added to Shawsheen the price tag would be higher than just two full-time teachers, said Dr. McQuillan. A part-time administrator would also have to be hired. Currently, a full-time Shawsheen teacher receives a stipend to oversee administration matters.

Susan Jenkins, committee chairwoman, said she has no interest in discussing the matter until the spring. If April Town Meeting voters approve funding for more elementary spaces, construction could begin soon thereafter and the classrooms might be ready by September 1994. If funding is denied, Ms. Jenkins believes Shawsheen School will have to be restructured to make up for other crowded schools.

Business news starts on page 7 in today's Townsmen.

News In Brief

Teacher contract talks continue

The contract dispute between the teachers' union and the school administration took one step closer to being resolved last week when teachers stopped picketing and resumed volunteer duties. The action was taken last week after union representatives met with the mediator, who suggested the action.

The School Committee is scheduled to meet alone with the mediator today, Thursday. All five members of the school board were requested to be at the session, said Mary Lyman, a member of the School Committee and its negotiating team.

The two sides hope to schedule a joint session with the mediator as soon as possible following Thursday's meeting.

Talking with Marty Meehan

Martin T. Meehan will host "Tell it to Your Congressman" sessions in three Fifth District communities before he is sworn into office on Jan. 5.

Congressman elect Meehan has scheduled town meetings this month in Billerica, Marlborough and Methuen to talk with residents and answer questions.

The first public forum is scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 16, from 7 to 8 p.m. at the Methuen High School auditorium. On Thursday, Dec. 17, the Marlborough Chamber of Commerce will co-sponsor a "Breakfast Town Meeting" from 7:30 to 9 a.m. at Marlborough City Hall and there will be an open forum at Billerica Town Hall from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The town meetings are open to the public and will be broadcast live on local cable television stations. Residents will be able to state their opinions or ask Mr. Meehan questions on any topic.

"I want people to let me know how I can best represent them as a member of Congress. I look forward to hearing what they have to say and bringing their ideas with me to Washington," Mr. Meehan said.

He plans to hold at least one town meeting in each of the 30 communities of the Fifth District over the next year.

Post office extends hours

The main post office at 10 Stevens St. will extend its hours in December. The post office will be open until 5 p.m. Saturdays, Dec. 12 and 19, and from noon to 5 p.m. on Sundays, Dec. 13 and 20.

All of the offices will be open their regular hours which are:

Main office, 10 Stevens St., window hours: Monday-Friday 8 a.m.-5 p.m.; lobby hours: Monday-Friday 5:30 a.m.-6 p.m.; Saturday 5:30-4:30 p.m.

Old Town Hall, 20 Main St., window hours: Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-4 p.m.; closed for lunch from 1:30-2:15 p.m.; Saturday, 8 a.m.-noon; lobby hours: Monday-Friday, 7:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.; Saturday, 7:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

Tech teachers work without a contract

Dec. 4 was "Black Day" at Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical High School, located on River Road. Employees represented by the Regional Federation of Teachers, Local 1707, MAT, AT, AFL-CIO, chose to wear black in a display of unity and support for their negotiating team.

Teachers at Greater Lawrence have been working this school year without a new contract to replace the old agreement with the School Committee. Negotiations are being conducted through a state mediator assigned by the Massachusetts Board of Conciliation and Arbitration.

Dale Hollingshed, president of the Regional Federation of Teachers, says there is growing concern and frustration within the membership with the present contract situation. A contract action team has been formed by the union to coordinate the local's activities.

Here's a present for the teacher

Looking for a present for your child's teacher? A donation to the Andover Fund for Education can be made by persons in the name of their child's teacher. A holiday card that acknowledges the donation will be sent by the Andover Fund for Education to the teacher. The amount of the donation will not be disclosed.

Founded in 1991, the Andover Fund for Education is a registered, non-profit, tax-exempt organization dedicated to enriching, enhancing and supporting Andover's public schools. Members are interested citizens and businesses committed to quality education and to the concept that excellent public schools are essential to the social and economic health of the community.

People are invited to send their donations along with their child's name and the teacher's name to: AFE, Inc., 36 Bartlett St., Andover, MA 01810.

For further information, call Sue Tucker at 475-7584 evenings. For a coupon to fill in to make the donation, see the fund's advertisement on page 29 in today's Townsmen.

Blood drive set for Dec. 22

An Andover community blood drive will be held Tuesday, Dec. 22, from 2 to 7 p.m. at Christ Church, 125 Central St.

"It's important to remember that blood cannot be manufactured. Your participation in the blood program is essential to assure that blood is on hand for transfusion to a patient," said Deborah Driskell, communications specialist for the American Red Cross Blood Services-Northeast Region.

Because each donation is separated into three components - red blood cells, plasma and platelets - the unit of blood a person donates can help several patients. The use of blood is vital in the treatment of anemia, cancer, ulcers and other medical conditions, as well as surgical procedures, according to the American Red Cross.

Those who are in good health, 18 years or older (17 years old with a signed parental/guardian consent form), weigh at least 105 pounds, have no history of hepatitis and no history of exposure to the AIDS virus, may be eligible to donate blood.

For more information or an appointment to donate, call Nick Angelos at 475-0436.

Gary Coon available here

State Rep. Gary Coon, R-Andover, will hold office hours here Thursday, Dec. 17, at Memorial Hall Library from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. He also will be available the same evening, 6-7, at the Lawrence Public Library on Lawrence Street.

Oh baby!

The Townsmen is publishing a special section, Baby, Jan. 14, and is asking readers to send in their baby photos to fill the section. Include the baby's name, parents' name and address, siblings, date of baby's birth and any other pertinent.

Families can pick up the photos after they are published. Photos can be black and white or color, but should be in focus.

Ecco shoes are made for walking

By Don Staruk

Ecco shoes, a Danish made shoe that rivals Rockport in Europe, is making a niche for itself here in America through a distribution office opened in Dundee Park a little more than a year ago.

Walking shoes are Ecco's primary product, according to Paul Grimble, president of Ecco in the U.S.

"We're the premium comfort walking company" in Europe, Mr. Grimble said.

The company sells roughly six million pair of shoes a year in Europe, similar to Rockport's sales there, according to Mr. Grimble. Ecco's production exceeds seven million pair of shoes annually.

Mr. Grimble said Ecco's shoes are like Rockports, "but better."

"Pleasant walking" is the company's aim and motto, and it offers lines for comfort and function as well as fashion.

The function lines offer special oil-tanned ox-hide, light and flexible midsoles, strong, non-slip outsoles with built in shock absorbers and detachable, anatomical inlay soles. These include styles called Mobile, Track, Walker, City Walker and Alpha. Track, Ecco's newest rugged hiking shoe, has a waterproof Gore-tex lining.

The comfort lines are light, flexible and soft, with specially tanned leather, and names like Soft, Shaker and Relax. The trend group sacrifices some comfort and function to style to fit the current fashion trends, and include the Twist and Club models.

Ecco uses the latest in high-tech design and robots are used extensively in production. Ecco shoes leave an easily recognizable footprint on the trail because its name is stamped into the sole of every shoe, a trait that won the firm a design award in 1985.

The shoes sell for between $130 and $150, and are available at Daher's Shoes here in Andover.

Ecco began manufacturing and selling clogs in the early 1960s in Denmark. In 1978, it developed its first walking shoe, the Jcke, followed by styles called Free and Time. In 1981 the company opened a subsidiary in Germany followed by expansions to Japan in 1982, Portugal and Cyprus in 1984, Sweden in 1986, Czechoslovakia and Austria in 1988 and Holland in 1989. The American office was set up in Andover in 1990.

The Andover office has grown from two people a year ago to 10 today.

"But it was last year that we really got going with our own operation," Mr. Grimble said.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Richard D. Hopgood, D.M.D.

BRIDGING THE GAP

A bridge is a fixed restoration which the dentist puts into place when relatively few teeth are missing (for instance, four adjacent front teeth or two side teeth). The replacement teeth are held in position by virtue of a metal framework that attaches itself to strongly-anchored teeth (abutments) on either side of the gap. The stability and durability of the bridge is largely owed to the fact that the abutment teeth must accept artificial crowns in order to hold the bridge firmly in place. If an objection arises over having to remove the healthy enamel of abutment teeth in order that they may be crowned, a "Maryland Bridge" may be considered. It utilizes metal onlays bonded to the inside surfaces of the abutment teeth.

Your dentist's recommendations for treatment should always be in your best interest. All dental work, short and long-term care and the costs of same should be fully explained in advance. If you need dental care and don't have a dentist at this time, we are presently accepting new patients here at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with easy access off Rt 93. We are a full service dental practice, offering preventive care, cosmetic dentistry, complete mouth restorations, etc. Hours are Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6 and by appointment. Telephone 475-2431. P.S. The Maryland Bridge, developed at the University of Maryland, may not be as durable as a standard fixed bridge.

Former Police Lt. Donald Mooers' trial delayed again

By Don Staruk

The incest trial of former Andover Police Lt. Donald Mooers Jr. was delayed again for at least another month, probably two months or more.

Mr. Mooers, 51, of Hampton, N.H., was a 23-year veteran of the Andover Police Department when he abruptly retired on Dec. 17, 1991, one day before he was secretly indicted on six charges of incest. Mr. Mooers was arraigned on Jan. 6 and is free on his own personal recognizance.

His trial was to begin last Wednesday, Oct. 21, but was delayed to this past Monday, Dec. 7. On Monday, it was delayed again, this time to Jan. 5, and not for trial, but for assignment of a trial date, according to David Duncan, prosecuting Essex County assistant district attorney.

"This means they're going to pick the date on Jan. 5th," Mr. Duncan said.

Mr. Mooers' lawyer, Neil Hourihan of Salem, Mass., is getting married in January or February and Mr. Duncan said it was probable that the trial would have to be delayed until after the wedding. The defense may also be delaying the trial to try and arrange testimony by an expert witness, Mr. Duncan said.

Mr. Mooers' attorney requested the October delay because a defense witness was unavailable at that time, according to Steve O'Connell, spokesman for the district attorney's office. Mr. O'Connell said at that time that there should have been no more delays and the trial should have begun on Dec. 7.

Monday was the eleventh time the case has been continued since Mr. Mooers was arraigned on Jan. 6 of this year.

At least one of those delays was at the request of the prosecution.

Trials are supposed to begin within one year of an arraignment, but that rule is often broken, according to Mr. Duncan, and there is no limit to the number of times a case can be continued.

"The limit is when the court says, 'No, we won't do it,'" Mr. Duncan said.

The Essex County Superior Court trial will be in either Lawrence or Salem, the location to be decided on Jan. 5.

Protecting students from discrimination

PAC head at Andover high works with schools on problem of time off for religious holidays

James Krasnoo, president of Andover High School's Parent Advisory Council, wants to make sure students who stay out of school to observe religious holidays aren't discriminated against. The Candlewood Drive resident told the School Committee at its meeting last week that there is a lot of "insensitivity" at most schools.

The School Committee has a long-standing policy instructing teachers and administrators to schedule tests, homework and assignment deadlines around holidays.

Mr. Krasnoo told the committee he has received several calls from parents and students informing him that the policy is not enforced. According to Mr. Krasnoo, many students have been penalized academically because of work they missed.

"I don't see it as deliberate discrimination against minority religions in the schools," he told the Townsmen earlier this week.

"What we need to do is inform administrators and teachers where the holidays fall in relation to the school calendar so that they can plan their school year accordingly."

Mr. Krasnoo has been working with AHS Principal Tim Thomas to create a dialogue among students, parents and teachers regarding the issue. He said Mr. Thomas has been "tremendously cooperative."

Mr. Krasnoo plans to contact other PTO representatives to publish a calendar of religious holidays to distribute to the principals of each school. He also plans to keep a vigilant watch and report back to the School Committee if its anti-discrimination policy isn't followed.

"As long as the school board has a policy that isn't working it is our job to bring it to their attention. All parents must take an active role to make sure that their children get the finest quality education as possible," he said.

Mr. Krasnoo hopes to have the calendar of religious holidays distributed by the start of the 1993-'94 school year.

Understanding Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

GETTING ADJUSTED

"Adjustment" is the term chiropractors use for the specific hand manipulations used to put areas of their patients' spines back into their proper alignment. Doctors of chiropractic have abundant experience in the art of examining by movement and touch (motion palpation) which, along with other examining procedures, help them detect misalignments of spinal bones. It is due to abnormal positioning or functioning of the spinal column that may lead to "pinched" nerves and other related problems. To relieve stress on these irritated nerves, the chiropractor may place the patient on a special adjusting table and apply precise amounts of pressure with the hands to specific areas. These vertebral adjustments put misplaced areas of the spine back into alignment and restore their normal range of motion.

Your chiropractor will explain every detail of your care plan before any adjustments begin. We accept only those patients we sincerely feel we can help and will refer you to the proper specialist if necessary. Call today. DELORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, 475-5042, for an appointment. Our office is located at 15 Central St. We wish you and your family the best for the Christmas and Hanukkah holidays!

P.S. The number of adjustment procedures needed to effectively realign a patient's spine depends on the degree of misalignment, its causes, and response to treatment.

WIND observes its third year of job networking here

WIND (Wednesday Is Networking Day), one of the first and largest support groups for unemployed professionals in New England, recently observed three years of meetings.

At that celebration, 223 people showed up. Five of the original attendees were there.

"They showed a very positive yet diverse change in their lives," said Lee Kirkwood, of 42 Dascumb Road, founder and facilitator of WIND. "Some have started their own business. A couple are still looking for jobs after two years. Bob Dyer, of Andover, was the very first to get a job, in January, 1991, and is still there, at Computer Associates."

Mr. Kirkwood said John Thomas was not able to attend the celebration. Mr. Thomas was one of the first to attend meetings at WIND. He has taken a job in Kansas City. He was out of work almost 14 months. Now he is VP of a firm that manufactures veterinary products.

Another person who networked at WIND picked up a nine-month assignment with the IRS and he has gone back there, on a part-time basis, but with health benefits, said Mr. Kirkwood.

Others have become project managers. One woman works for Smithsonian Astrophysics Laboratory in Cambridge and is responsible for the software for a new satellite that will be launched in 1995, according to Mr. Kirkwood.

"So we've had some very interesting things happen. More than 950 people have found jobs and reported them to us. We had more than 1,300 job listings come in last week," said Mr. Kirkwood, who said normally the group has about 500 listings come in each week.

WIND leaders use the word "observe," not "celebrate," as they claim celebration will only come when their more than 350 currently active, unemployed members have found new career moves through the networking opportunities and job-finding assistance provided by the WIND group.

People from all over the Greater Boston Metropolitan area attend the weekly meetings, which are held every Wednesday at the Franciscan Center, 475 River Road, exit 45 from Route 93, at 9:30 a.m.

Fourteen unemployed professionals attended the first WIND meeting on Nov. 28, 1990, at Faith Lutheran Church. Within six months, the group outgrew the facility and moved to South Church. Growth to more than 160 people necessitated another move. For the last 14 months the group has met in the Franciscan Center.

WIND also has been meeting in Foxboro on Thursdays for more than 15 months, at the First Baptist Church (corner of Mechanic and Chestnut streets).

WIND reflects a positive attitude toward the future for its members. Each meeting follows a set format that features networking opportunities, "needs" help and top quality speakers who present various elements of job search activities.

Andover schools honor Frank Paul

Almost 100 friends and colleagues gathered at Old Town Hall Monday night to show their appreciation and say farewell to Frank Paul, who will retire in January after 12 years as the business manager of Andover's public schools.

Superintendent Mark McQuillan was one of many speakers at the event honoring the business manager. He thanked Mr. Paul for being his "teacher" when he was hired two years ago. He also thanked Mr. Paul for all his work developing the school system's budgets during the past 18 months of fiscal hardships.

David Reilly, the school accountant, thanked Mr. Paul for being a mentor and a friend.

Susan Jenkins, chairwoman of the School Committee, spoke on behalf of the board and wished Mr. Paul and his wife, Delores, well. Ms. Jenkins thanked Mr. Paul for taking new committee members "under his wing" and patiently explaining the budget process.

Former committee members Mike Giammusso and Dick Neal also praised Mr. Paul. Mr. Neal remarked that he was always amazed at Mr. Paul's ability to remember facts and figures and said that he was always "accurate to the penny" in his budget figures.

At the end of the evening, Dr. McQuillan presented Mr. Paul with a captain's chair imprinted with the town seal.

Superintendent of Schools Mark McQuillan greets business manager Frank Paul in the Old Town Hall function room, at the reception Monday night to honor Mr. Paul, who is retiring in January.

Frank Paul introduces his wife, Delores, to some of his colleagues upstairs in Old Town Hall. Nearly 100 people gathered to show their appreciation to the schools' business manager of the last 12 years.

Choices is a self-esteem program for teen-age girls

Choices, a self-esteem program for teen-age girls, is completing its second session at West Middle School. It is offered in six-week cycles to sixth-, seventh- and eighth-grade girls under the auspices of the American Association of University Women (AAUW).

The Choices program was developed by a team of women in California. The AAUW adopted it and ran it in various parts of the country. However, the program had never been adopted in Massachusetts and is still rather new to Andover. The most recent session hosts professional women as speakers who discuss their careers. Peg Campbell of the Department of Community Services; Christine Estabrook, owner of Silverado; Janet Thorpe, a registered nurse who works in a cardiac-rehab center; and Beth Arnold, a patent attorney, spoke at this session.

AAUW members Sharon Vanderheiden and Pam Collins facilitated the session. Registration is through the Department of Community Services.

Patent attorney Beth Arnold addresses career and self-esteem issues with the teen-age girls during a session of Choices, held at West Middle School recently.

There will be a multicultural puppet treat for children at West Middle School Saturday, Dec. 12. Children can be entertained and introduced to four different cultures and four different kinds of puppets by Theatreworks USA's master puppeteer Jim West. This show is designed to entertain as well as educate.

Mr. West brings his acting, writing and producing talents from New York in a multimedia show that blends puppetry, classical music, drawing, storytelling and geography.

From China, Mr. West brings a story about a boy and his dragon and he uses cardboard boxes and rags to create a giant dragon on stage. A North American Indian legend about a boy who yearns to fly uses hand puppets and cutouts to create a colorful story totem pole. An African tale, Anansi the Spider, utilizes hand shadows and Hans Christian Andersen's Ugly Duckling comes to life. Parents receive a study guide with suggested post-performance follow-up activities.

The show is at 1 p.m. and is recommended for children ages 3 and up and their parents. Tickets are $7 and may be purchased at the door or ordered by calling Kaleidoscope at 475-1422. Kaleidoscope sponsors this show in cooperation with the Department of Community Services.

Sanborn holds 14th Harvest Festival

Sanborn School celebrated its 14th Annual Harvest Festival during Thanksgiving week. As part of the Harvest Festival tradition, the families of Sanborn donate food, baked goods, plants and gifts, which are then packaged in gift boxes. More than 100 seniors were presented with these gift boxes when 80 fifth-graders of Sanborn visited them in their homes.

The children are very proud to present their gift packages and enjoy their conversations and friendship with their "surrogate" grandparents as many of the children have out-of-state grandparents.

Many of the seniors showed Sanborn gifts they had kept over the years. Margaret Steele of Andover Street showed her guests the stenciled turkey cards she had collected, and Beatrice Stevens of Brookside Drive showed her collection of plants that had flourished for years.

Many of the seniors had surprises for their guests. At the home of Doris and Dean Hudgins, on North Street, Mrs. Hudgins had made chocolate-chip cookies; the students (and mothers who drove) loved them.

Harvest Festival is a Sanborn tradition, representing involvement of the Sanborn community. Families donate canned goods and non-perishable foods, mothers wrap the gift boxes in green paper, and fifth-grade Girl Scouts decorate the boxes with pilgrim hats, pumpkins and fall leaves, which were cut out by the Brownies of Sanborn. Other Brownies baked breads, while the Boy Scouts donated plants. Handpainted stenciled cards were prepared by second-grade Brownies.

The day before the deliveries, many of the seniors were entertained by the students with a Harvest Festival Assembly, organized by Sanborn's music specialist, Terry Ingrams; then all of the donated items were packaged by Sanborn parents and teachers.

The Harvest Festival was inspired by Mary Gruzijka, a past music specialist at Sanborn, who had spent her 1978-'79 sabbatical in England, where visiting the elderly is an annual pre-holiday custom for school children. Upon her return, she and three mothers who came from England Maureen Wood, Sheila Kachen, and Maureen Atkinson started this holiday tradition.

The organizers of this year's Harvest Festival were Sanborn mothers Pam Silevitch, Ruth Ann Elias, Terry Wetzler-Finn, Tobi Levis, Fran Fink, Karen Hayman and Eileen Chen. They and Principal Jade Reitman recruited students, parents, scout troops and teachers of Sanborn to organize the Harvest Festival program. Names of senior citizens who would like to be visited by the fifth graders of Sanborn School for Harvest Festival next year can be forwarded to Sanborn School by calling or writing the school office.

THE REAL ESTATE CORNER

with Jean Fitzgerald & Pamela Lebowitz

CREATING A SMOOTH TRANSITION

Your house is under contract and scheduled to settle in a few weeks. What can you do to make the transition in ownership as easy as possible for you and your buyers?

Keep in close contact with your agent so you'll know ahead of time if there are any changes in the schedule for settlement. Remember that on the day the property changes hands, your house should be empty, clean and ready for the buyer's final walk-through inspection. Contact all of the utility companies to let them know you're moving and want the service placed in the buyer's name, and be sure the buyer follows up with calls to confirm this. You don't want the gas or electric turned off, because the buyers will want to ensure the appliances are in working order. Let your insurance company know ahead of time that you're selling the house and make sure your coverage is transferred to your new address. Most important, start the process a few weeks ahead of time to avoid last minute goof-ups.

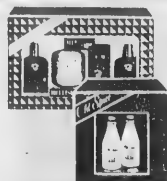

If there's a move in your future, the real estate specialists at Century 21 Minuteman Realty are ready to serve you. Feel free to visit your office at 2 Elm Square, or phone us at 475-1243.

Doherty Middle School PAC meets tonight

The Doherty Middle School PAC will have William Crawford, director of parent programs of the Freedom from Chemical Dependency Foundation in Needham, as its guest at its meeting tonight, Thursday, Dec. 10. It will be held in the viewing room in the McGrail Media Center from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

The F.C.D. is a worldwide, non-profit alcohol and drug education organization. Mr. Crawford says, "We've seen in more and more communities across the nation, the average age of first experimentation moved from fifth grade to as low as fourth grade."

According to Floyd McManus, principal of Doherty, "We know that most of the Doherty students are not involved with drugs and/or alcohol and we've invited Mr. Crawford in to help us keep it that way." He will give parents guidelines on what to know, say and how to say it when speaking about drugs and alcohol.

Art produced by South Elementary students

Sarah Slive, a Cambridge-based photographer and an artist-in-residence at South School, worked with students during October on a photo-quilt project. Using the school's theme for the year, "We're all part of the picture," each student received a 10-inch square of fabric on which they laid out materials they had collected. Those images were transferred to the fabric by a kwik-print process using photographic emulsion and sunlight. The squares were then sewn together by students and parents into quilts, which now hang in the school's cafetorium.

Photographer Sarah Slive of Cambridge rinses the fabric prints made by South Elementary students. As the artist-in-residence, Ms. Slive taught the children to create images on fabric with a light-sensitive paint. When the paint dries and is exposed to the sun, it acts as a film developer and creates images.

◀ Yayoi Kimura makes a hand print on her emulsion-treated fabric as the quilt begins to take shape, one square at a time.

AFS honors Molly Ryden at banquet

The Andover chapter of the American Field Service held its annual International Banquet recently. Molly Ryden, AFS student adviser at Andover High School, was the guest of honor. Ms. Ryden, who retired at the end of November, has been an active member of the AFS Club for more than 20 years. She has served as club and foreign student adviser and, as media specialist at the high school, has helped and arranged presentations by AFS students. Mrs. Ryden, a native of Germany, was accompanied by her husband, Odt, originally from Finland. She was presented with a large plant, in appreciation for her many years of service.

Students who traveled under the auspices of AFS attended the banquet. This year's foreign students, Marion Legeay from France, hosted by Robert and Dee Riemer of Lansbury Lane, and Phillipe Burkhalter of Switzerland, hosted by Bob and Connie Givens of Woodhaven Drive, presented slides and recounted their experiences. Jiben Cheng of China, a teacher at Phillips Academy hosted by Fred and Susan Stolt of Robandy Road, gave a presentation on Chinese art.

Andover students who had participated in the AFS Americans Abroad Exchange shared their experiences. Julie Cutler, daughter of Charles and Phyllis Cutler of Toby Lane, spent a summer in Finland; Jennifer Bateman, daughter of Bill and Renata Bateman of York Street, lived with a family in Argentina; and Andrew Brown, son of Edgar and Barbara Brown of Stinson Road, was an AFS returnee from Paraguay.

Applications are available for Andover students interested in the AFS Americans Abroad Program.

For more information, call Nancy Riseeuw of Aspen Circle.

Northern Essex, Bradford College new transfer agreement reached

Officials from Bradford and Northern Essex Community College have reached an agreement that will benefit students who plan to further their education after completing a two-year associate's degree.

Bradford President Joseph Short and Northern Essex President John R. Dimitry jointly confirmed a transfer agreement between their respective colleges.

Under the new agreement Northern Essex students who graduate with an associate's degree and earn at least a C- in all courses taken at the community college will be admitted into one of Bradford's five bachelor of arts degree programs — Creative Arts, Humanities, Human Studies, Management or Natural Science and Mathematics.

Up to 60 credits earned at Northern Essex will be accepted by Bradford in the transfer process. In addition to offering need-based financial assistance, Bradford will offer two scholarships for exceptional academic achievement to graduates of the community college each year.

Approximately 50 percent of the students who attend the community college transfer to a four-year college or university, according to Robert McDonald, dean of academic affairs at Northern Essex. Although Northern Essex students have transferred to Bradford in the past, the new agreement provides guidelines that will help counselors at both colleges to better advise students who indicate an intent to transfer.

The agreement emphasizes that a student must graduate from the community college with an associate's degree. When a student matriculates into an academic program at Northern Essex he or she will be advised as to what classes taken at the two-year college will be transferable, the agreement said.

Norman and Lorraine Auchterlonie celebrate 50 years of marriage

Norman and Lorraine Auchterlonie of 76 Red Spring Road celebrated 50 years of marriage at a surprise brunch hosted by their children.

Eighty guests from as far away as Michigan and New York gathered at the Ramada Rolling Green in Andover for the anniversary celebration on Saturday, Nov. 28. A poem was written for them by Irene Auchterlonie of Andover, who introduced the couple and served as matron of honor at their wedding in 1942. Their children created a presentation of a video of their life.

Norman Auchterlonie and Lorraine Hamel were married Dec. 26, 1942 at Sacred Heart Rectory in Lawrence. It was a simple affair, and they shipped out immediately for Texas, where Mr. Auchterlonie was stationed with the Army Air Corps.

After the war, the couple made their home in Andover, where they have lived ever since. They've raised three children: Barbara Crowley of East Bridgewater; Norman Auchterlonie Jr. of Clay, N.Y.; and Helen Gifford of Salem. They have six grandchildren.

Mr. Auchterlonie, a 1940 graduate of Puncnag High School, was an Andover firefighter for 28 years. Since his retirement, he has taken up model ship building, and his hand-crafted ships grace the homes of many friends and family members.

Mrs. Auchterlonie worked at Western Electric in North Andover for 23 years. She's known in the family for her hooked rugs, and since her retirement has become a regular at the senior citizen exercise classes in town.

The couple received many gifts, including a mirror hand-etched by their granddaughter, Jennifer Auchterlonie. Friends and relatives gave them nearly $100 worth of lottery tickets. (They won exactly $44 on the tickets).

Hanukkah, often called the Festival of Lights, commemorates the Maccabean victory of Antiochus of Syria some 21 centuries ago. While attempting to cleanse and rededicate the temple, the Maccabees found only enough sacred oil to light the Menorah for one day. But a miracle occurred and the oil lasted for eight days. For each of the eight nights of Hanukkah, a candle is lit by the shamas (helper candle) until an eight-candle Menorah is aglow. After the candle ceremony, it is traditional to sing songs, play with the dreidel (spinning top), open presents and eat latkes (potato pancakes).

Children will do a reading and light family Menorahs. The event will have children's games, crafts and food.

The contemporary American-Jewish band "Family" will perform at 2:30 p.m. The band joins Hebrew prayer to original music.

Bring Menorahs, candles and a small unwrapped new toy or quality used toy to be donated to the Women's Resource Center.

Food and entertainment are free. Call Georgia Cordill-London at 475-7999.

Chanukah Live is a one-hour educational program Dec. 20

This year join the many Hanukkah celebrations throughout the world with Chanukah Live, a one-hour educational Hanukkah program. The program will be telecast Sunday, Dec. 20, at 3 p.m. on cable channel 11 (or you can come to Chabad of the Merrimack Valley where this program will be shown and explained).

Viewers will be allowed to participate in live simultaneous Hanukkah celebrations around the world including the Western Wall, the Eiffel Tower, Hong Kong, Melbourne, Australia, Cairo, Rio, Brazil, Honolulu, Alaska, New York and the national Menorah next to the White House in Washington, D.C.

Historical information on the Hanukkah holiday, the Macabees and more will be presented in video form during Chanukah Live.

The Lubavitcher Rebbe, Rabbi Menachem M. Schneerson, recognized by many as the foremost Jewish leader in the world today, will participate in these Hanukkah festivities, as well as the chief rabbi of Israel and France and various heads of state.

For more information, call Chabad Lubavitch at 475-1853.

Celebrating the music of the season at Temple Emanuel

There will be a celebration of the music of the season at Temple Emanuel of Andover Friday, Dec. 18, at 8:15 p.m. The music, in English and in Hebrew, will tell the miracles of the Maccabees: How the ancient temple in Jerusalem was rededicated (the meaning of the word Hanukkah) after having been defiled and desecrated by Greco-Syrian conquerors. How one vial of consecrated oil lasted for eight full days in the temple's Menorah until a new supply could be prepared.

As part of the Shabbat evening service, the adult choir and the junior choir of Temple Emanuel will present a program of Hanukkah music. There will be traditional and contemporary pieces led by Cantor Donn Rosensweig, accompanied on the organ by Holly Fisher and on the guitar by Cantor Rosensweig. Both choirs are made up of volunteers from the synagogue community.

The adult choir sings throughout the High Holy Days of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur and present special events throughout the liturgical year.

The junior choir is composed of children in the temple's religious school grades three through six. They sing on a regular basis at the temple's family services, which are held on the first Friday of each month at 7:30 p.m., and on additional special occasions. Recently they participated in the Andover community's Inter-faith Thanksgiving service at West Parish Church.

Hanukkah officially begins on Dec. 19.

CHEF'S

A Bowl of Wassail

This recipe comes to Townsmen readers from the the English in Dickens' novels. Dating back to medieval times, they celebrated Christmas Eve, New Year's Eve and Twelfth Night (January 5) by "wassailing": walking through town carrying a hearty, hot punch made with ale, nutmeg, ginger, sugar and roasted apples. The word "wassail" comes from the Norse "ves heill", which means "be whole" or "be well." Wassailers drank to the good health of neighbors and farm animals, and for an abundant apple harvest. The wassail bowl comes out to celebrate the season. Here is one recipe for the concoction that is worth saving.

|-----------------------------|---------------------------|
| 12 tart cooking apples      | 3 cloves                  |
| ½ cup brown sugar           | 3 whole allspice          |
| 4 bottles stout             | 1 cinnamon stick          |
| 4 bottles pale ale or lager | 2 teaspoons ground ginger |
| 1 fifth medium sherry       | Zest of 2 lemons          |
| ½ teaspoon grated nutmeg    | 12 eggs                   |
| ½ teaspoon cardamom seeds   | ½ cup sugar               |

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. Core apples, leaving bottoms intact. Put 1 teaspoon brown sugar in each apple cavity. Place apples in buttered baking dish and bake until soft, about 30 minutes (This may be done ahead of time; keep apples warm). Combine ales and sherry in large Dutch oven; add spices and lemon zest. Bring almost to boil, stirring occasionally to release foam from ale. Simmer 5 minutes. Meanwhile, separate eggs. Place yolks in large punch bowl. In separate bowl, beat whites until soft peak form; add sugar. Continue beating until stiff, not dry. Fold egg whites into yolks. Strain hot ale mixture into egg mixture, beating constantly. Add baked apples. Serve punch in small cups. The apples can be eaten.

Members of the staff and former patients participated in a holiday fashion show recently at Northeast Rehabilitation Hospital in Salem, N.H.

The latest fashions were provided by Kaps men's shops, Kaleidoscope of Andover, Fashion Bug of Derry, N.H., and Bridaloft, which also is located in Salem, N.H.

The highlight of the show, according to organizers, was a formal wedding presentation with Northeast's CEO John Prochilo as groom and Dr. Linda Cowell, staff neurologist, as his bride.

Elizabeth Cary, director of patient/family services, organized the event, which benefited the patient Christmas fund.

Don Mulvey's diary of a young man living here

ing. It was glorious. Susan got loads of things. Today I stayed in. Oh, I am going to get a hockey stick.

Wednesday, Dec. 27: Cold and snowy. This morning I went to Pete Stern's. We went sliding on Demers hill. I ate there and in the afternoon we went to the show at the Palace. It was called Kismet and the other one was She's a Sweetheart. She's a Sweetheart was good.

Thursday, Dec. 28: Cool. This morning I went to Lawrence with Stern to get my hockey stick. Then he ate at my house for lunch and supper and he is sleeping here tonight. This afternoon we went sliding at Morton hill. We beat all the other kids. I got my penlight batteries.

Saturday, Dec. 30: Cool. Yesterday I came home from Scouts too late to write. I went sliding all day today.

Sunday, Dec. 31: Cool. New Year's Eve. Last night I slept at Olga's house. This morning I didn't go to church because of a cold. After I was there a while Anne got sick and had her appendix taken out. She was taken over in an ambulance. Tonight Jean, Paul, Crit, Helen, Loring Bacheider, Joan, John Little and Marilyn Duguid are having a party. They are going to the Crystal to dance afterwards. I can't do anything because of the party.

Monday, Jan. 1: It's 1945. Very stormy. I am mad. The storm turned off the electricity and I couldn't listen to the game. I listened to the Orange Bowl and the Sugar Bowl but the others were shut off. The scores that I know are Orange Bowl Tulsa 26, Georgia Tech 12. Cotton Bowl Oklahoma Aggies 34 T.C.U.O. Both of our radios were off so we borrowed Olga's. Then the electricity went off. I went to church today. Jean went to the show tonight. She was glad the radio was off. After church we went over the hospital to see Anne. She is getting alright.

Thursday, Jan. 4: I didn't write the 2nd because I got home from the patrol meeting too late. Yesterday I was home late from dancing school. We had a blast. I stayed after school today in Stimp's room. After that I went down to Sully's to go skating but it was all wet so we rang Kurth's door and ran. Kurth came out and saw us. Then he went in. Sully went to ring it again but Elizabeth came out and told us she didn't want to be bothered with us. Sully konked her on the head. Then Sully and me had a fight against Kurth, Shea, Gainsey and Penwell. I got hit two times and I hit Gainsy in the face two times. I saved Sully one time by hitting Gainsy in the eye. I am sleeping at Olga's tonight.

Sunday, Jan. 7: I lost my book when I came home from Olga's so I couldn't write until today. I went to church but had to stay in the rest of the day because I have a cold. I got a quarter for taking care of Sue when Mother, Dad and Jean went to see Anne. Anne is coming home tomorrow. It was freezing today. Last night was way below 0.

Monday, Jan. 8: Cool. I went over to Lawrence to get some books with Pee wee Caldwell. I didn't get any because his father took us home and we didn't go past the store.

Tuesday, Jan. 9: This afternoon I went with Pee wee to Lawrence. I got The Shore Road Mystery, Son of Robin Hood in Nottingham and Dave Dawson of the Pacific Fleet. Pee wee got Dave Dawson at Guadalcanal. Tonight we ate at Olga's. Then I went to patrol meeting. Yogy and me plastered some of the preppies' rooms on the way home. We had fun.

Wednesday, Jan. 10: I went to the carnival at Shawsheen School tonight. We had some fun.

Thursday, Jan. 11: Cold. Didn't do anything today.

Friday, Jan. 12: We got special reports today in school. I haven't shown mine to Mother yet. I feel pretty bad because I shot a snowball at a truck and it hit the windshield. The man chased me. I shouldn't have run. Curry had to tell him my name and the number of my house. He said he'd be back. I'm going to tell Mother. I went to Scouts tonight.

Saturday, Jan. 13: Cold. Went to the morning show with Curry and played with him this afternoon. I am scared and I keep forgetting to tell Mother about the snowball.

Sunday, Jan. 14: Cold and snow. Stayed in and did my homework.

Monday, Jan. 15: Cold. This afternoon I went with Curry downtown and shovelled walks.

Tuesday, Jan. 16: Cold and snow. In places the snow is about five feet deep. This afternoon I went to see Going My Way. It was good. Tonight was Scouts patrol meeting. After the meeting Otis and me went downtown and had a blast. There is going to be a Scout dance and I have to ask a girl and get her and then bring her back home.

Wednesday, Jan. 17: Cold. In school I got caught throwing spitballs and had to stay after. I had to stay in because I have a cold today. Tonight I had a blast at dancing school. After that on the way home I held the cafe door open and the kids shot snowballs in. After a while a guy came out and started to chase us and then stopped. Hart said come on chase us so the guy ran over to the police station and we left then. Nothing's happened about the truck I threw the snowball at yet.

Friday, Jan. 19: Cool. Didn't write yesterday because I slept at Olga's and left my book here. After Scouts tonight Yogy, me and Sully went to Walter's

Don Mulvey today

Cafe and threw snowballs at the door. Nothing happened so Yogy went to the back door and shot one in. It hit a glass out of a guy's hand. After that we went home.

Saturday, Jan. 20: Warm. This afternoon I went skiing with Pete Stern at the sixth hole at the Country Club. When I came home I was awful tired. Olga came too.

Sunday, Jan. 21: Cool. I went to church and Sunday school today. This afternoon I went skiing at Morton hill and later at the sixth hole. I took some jumps. We chased some girls on skis.

Monday, Jan. 22: Cool, snow. I went to the show to see Song of the Open Road and Sergeant Mike. Afterwards I went skiing.

Tuesday, Jan. 23: Freezing. This afternoon I stayed in a while then I went skiing with Joe Wennick, Charley McCullom, Donnie Valz, Johnny Friel and Dolan. Wennick made an 11-foot jump.

Saturday, Jan. 26: Cold. Didn't write yesterday because Otis, Southwick, Sully, me and Young went up to the school and tried to get in but it was locked and I got home too late to write. This morning I went up to the hill skiing but nobody was up there and it was pretty cold so I came back. After that I called Young but he was at the morning show so I waited and later Young called me and said he could go to Doughgirls and Waterfront show at the Playhouse. After the show we followed the brook up and I wanted to go under Main Street on the ice but Young didn't dare so we went across Main Street to the Paper Store and out the back and then followed the ice for a while. After that we tried to get in the school but we couldn't. I fell in the ice up to my knees. We went under Chestnut Street.

Sunday, Jan. 28: This morning I went to Sunday school and church. Sully has quit his paper route. I am glad. Went skiing at the sixth hole. We tripped the Chadwicks up and I got my pole stuck into the neck doing it. There were lots of kids there. Scotty Gerrish, Arty Botsch, Arty Hembrough, Tommy Wilkinson, Ev McAskill, Roger Dee, Doug Hart, Tommy Godfrey, Jack Caswell, Ray Collins and some girls.

Monday, Jan. 29: I was sick and didn't go to school.

Tuesday, Jan. 30: Cool. I didn't say the weather for the last two days. I forget what it was. After school I went to the Punched (22) Ipswich (35) game and the junior high (13) Punched sophomores (11) game. We had some games of hide and seek in the school.

Wednesday, Jan. 31: Cool. Stayed in school today and Otis, Sully, Young, McKee, Smith and me had some games. One team goes out and the other chases them. We went into Punched and the auditorium. Finally the janitor caught us and made us stop. After that Otis, me, Young and McKee followed the brook. Otis and me tried to go under Main Street. There is a rock wall beside the brook and above it is a steel ceiling. At one place it is just about a foot wide to crawl through. We got past there and almost all the way under when we came to a high falls. We couldn't get past it so we had to come back. We fell in a few times and when we got back we were covered in mud. I came home and told Mother that I was going to take my bath for dancing school. She didn't see it when I went across the kitchen because I went behind the table. I went upstairs and brushed them off with a clothesbrush. I had one leg done when she came into the room so I pushed them under the chair but she saw me and blasted me because they were just cleaned yesterday. She said she wouldn't let me go to dancing school except she wanted me to learn how to dance. Didn't do very much there except once I ran for Schulze and Stern ran for her too. I got there first. Well there was an empty seat beside her and a swinging door behind her and Stern ran into me and pushed me and the chair right through the door and onto the floor. Old Lady Bailey blasted me.

Thursday, Feb. 1: Cool. I went to Lawrence with Pee wee and got The Mark on the Door, The Cortez Emerald Mystery and The Clue at Skeleton Rocks. After supper I went to the patrol meeting at Doug Hart's house. I went home with Yogy and we had some fun.

Friday, Feb. 2: Groundhog Day. We saw his shadow. Six more weeks of winter. Phooey. Nancy Schulze asked me to the Glee Club dance. I am going. After school we played in school. They didn't find me. Went to Scouts tonight and passed my Tenderfoot. We didn't do anything after the meeting.

Saturday, Feb. 3: Cool. Young and me pestered Sully this afternoon and he got mad and tried to fight us but we didn't want to so he tried to throw snowballs at us and tried to wash our faces but he couldn't. This morning I went with Sully to the morning show. Jean has gone to the tea dance with some preppie named Fred. She acts crazy lately.

Sunday, Feb. 4: Cool. After church Sully and me went uptown and I teased him about how mad we had made him yesterday. After that I went with Mother and Olga to Shawsheen. They went into Thompson's to give them a blanket. My eyes started watering while they were in there because I don't live in Shawsheen anymore. When they came out they saw me and Mother said what's wrong don't you feel well and I said I feel alright and then I started bawling. Olga said didn't you want me to give away that blanket, didn't you want us to leave you and a whole lot of other silly things. Then Mother said she knew what was wrong and then Olga guessed it after a long time. A little later Mother said she wouldn't have moved if she knew I would take it so badly and told me I should go skating so I went up to Rabbits. There was a hockey game between Phillips and Harvard JV's. We won 5-2.

Monday, Feb. 5: Went to the show today. The Thin Man Goes Home and The Falcon in Mexico. They were both real good mysteries.

TOWNTALK

A group of students from Phillips Academy's Search and Rescue program helped the Bay Circuit Trail Alliance and the Andover Trail Committee recently by doing a major cleanup of a section of the trail off Jenkins Road near Harold Parker State Forest. Now the trail groups need a hand getting the huge pile of mink traps, old tires and assorted debris off the ground and into a couple OF dumpsters to be supplied by the town's Department of Public Works and Vin-ing Disposal Service.

Anyone willing to help with the work can call the Bay Circuit's Al French at 470-1982, or Elizabeth Tentarelli of the Andover Trail Committee at 470-2520. They will then be contacted when the dumpsters are in place.

Nancy Uyu, of Union Street, was a contestant on THE Wheel of Fortune TV game show last Friday. Ms. Uyu flew out to California in October to the CBS studios to tape an episode. She didn't win the grand prize, but did win $2,400 when she solved a puzzle.

Matthew Hoffman, the 7-year-old grandson of Mary Furnari, of Cyprus Lane, received a letter from President-elect Bill Clinton a few weeks ago. The first-grader at Sacred Hart School in Lawrence had written the Arkansas governor and invited him to dinner. Gov. Clinton declined the dinner invitation, but sent Matthew a letter thanking him for his support and encouraging him to remain politically aware and active. Matthew is the son of Maria and Sean Hoffman of Lawrence.

Next year, 1993, will be the year that The Wellness Community opens its doors to cancer patients in the Greater Boston area. This dream is possible as the result of the final boost received from the philanthropy of those attending the Gilda Radner Award Dinner Dance and Auction recently.

Rose Lewis, daughter of Joan and Jerry Lewis of Andover, Channel 5 producer and board of directors member, worked hard to ensure an evening of warmth, congeniality and charity. She helped produce a short video using footage from Saturday Night Live and audio tapes of Ms. Radner reading from her book, It's Always Something, in which she described The Wellness Community and its importance to her. The video was used to highlight the evening's program and encourage people to bid high on the auction items.

The Wellness Community is a free, psychological and social support services program for adult cancer patients. Patients and their families interact with licensed professionals as part of a community determined to fight cancer, improve the quality of life and enhance the possibility of recovery. For more information, call (617) 232-2300.

Andover Townsman Editor Perry Colmore Catlin presents Mark Barrett with his prize, a Townsman blanket with the Feaster Five insignia on it, for being the first man from Andover across the finish line at the Feaster Five Road Race on Thanksgiving Day. His time was 28:38. This was the second year in a row that Mr. Barrett was the first male finisher from Andover. The first female from Andover to finish the race was Terri Anne McGettrick, whose time was 30:26. She also won the blanket award last year as first female from Andover over the line. Her photo was taken this week too late to appear but will be published next week. Ms. McGettrick said the race route felt crowded and later she realized that because some of the roads were in bad shape, participants were looking to run in the middle of the road, where it got crowded.

"They call me the dub boy," which he says is an affectionate nickname.

Mr. Pennick received a journalism degree from Lehigh University and worked as a reporter for The Eagle Tribune 1978-'80. For a time he worked with a comedy troupe in Boston, called Laughing Stock, where he met his wife. Mr. Pennick said he works at Rescue 911 to support his acting career.

"I'm an actor. That's my craft, my vocation, my love," he said.

Mr. Pennick is currently a member of National Lampoon Players, a troupe in which many successful comedic actors, such as Chevy Chase, got their start.

Home party problem resolved

By Don Staruk

A direct-sale Plymouth candle and gift company this week vowed to fill orders for an Andover resident and others who complained that orders they placed with a local representative were never filled.

Dorothy Moran, of 505 Lowell St., purchased candles at a party hosted by her sister in Wilmington in October after the two saw the idea to host a party for Partylite Gifts Inc., of Plymouth, Mass., advertised in local newspapers. Those who attended the party collectively ordered about $500 worth of candles and related gifts, according to Ms. Doran, paying with checks made out to the local Partylite representative. But weeks went by and they did not receive any of the gifts. Ms. Doran and her sister attempted to contact the representative, but her phone number had been changed to an unlisted number.

"I had to write a letter to the company in Plymouth because they never received the order," Ms. Doran said.

The company put them in touch with Barbara Walter, the regional development coordinator for Partylite, in Nashua, N.H. Ms. Walter said last week that Ms. Doran's sister was one of eight hostesses from this area who complained of orders not being filled by the same representative. The company assured Ms. Walter it will fill all the orders and try to resolve whatever the problem is with the representative.

"We just started finding out about this yesterday," Ms. Walter said last Friday. "We're sending out the merchandise even though we're not being paid for it. They all have copies of what their friends ordered, thank goodness. But we do stand behind our product."

The representative in question, a Tewksbury resident contacted by the Townsmen by telephone Friday, said she is no longer an agent for Partylite and that she was unaware of a problem with her orders being left unfilled. "The only thing I can say is I have sent them in," the representative said.

She contacted the company during the weekend and said Tuesday that she resolved the problem. "Obviously, they didn't get it," she said. "The matter has been cleared up. Everybody should be receiving their merchandise this week."

The representative didn't say what the problem was, but just that she was busy with a family problem and that Ms. Walter was taking care of the situation.

Pat Jernberg, spokesperson for Partylite, offered an apology to the party guests who were affected, and said they will receive their merchandise this week.

Partylite is a "direct-sell company, like Tupperware," Ms. Jernberg said, and although she was not familiar with the details of the problem with the orders or representative in question, occasionally there are problems. "All we ask the hostesses to do is to send us proof that they placed the orders," Ms. Jernberg said.

She also said it is normal procedure for guests to make checks out to the local representative.

"It's normal procedure because we as a company do not accept checks from guests," Ms. Jernberg said.

Bill would benefit dispatchers

By Don Staruk

Rep. Gary Coon, R-Andover, last week co-sponsored the refiling of a bill to the Legislature that would change the retirement status for public safety dispatchers, or communicators, as those in the field prefer to be called.

The bill is part of an effort by the Public Safety Communicators Association, a group organized in part by Russ Cahalane of the Andover Police Department, to have their profession recognized on a state level.

The bill would put communicators in the same class as police officers and fire fighters, instead of with clerks and secretaries as they are in now, according to Mr. Cahalane.

Being in that category would make them eligible for retirement at age 55 instead of 65, and would increase their retirement benefits.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. James Jajuga, D-Methuen, and co-sponsored by Mr. Coon, was submitted last Wednesday, Dec. 2, the last day to file bills for the upcoming legislative session.

Remember to breathe

Everywhere we go at this time of year – from concert to community Messiah sing, to church fair, to Festival of the Trees, to shop in our downtown and much more, we are caught in a tight space between relaxing and enjoying the beauty and purpose of the season, and worrying about getting things done.

The question is, how to slow it down, how to chase some of the clutter out of our lives, to set priorities during a time when we want to do so much.

We, too, have been around town, listening to beautiful music, watching Andover prepare for the holidays, enjoying the lights and especially the faces of children who remind us to look, and to see.

But what we hear often is about stress. One woman told us she fell asleep at Phillips Academy's service of Lessons and Carols last Sunday, because she is so tired. People we know have colds, or flu, perhaps brought on by doing too much, by buying into the season's stress and rapid pace.

We have decided to try to take time out every day, more than once a day, for ourselves. Pick 10 minutes – more if possible – and think about what counts in life. Think about someone who needs some support or a kind word. Think about the things in your own life that are good.

Sit down for a moment and listen to some music. Call a friend who is sad at this time of year. Make a date for a tea party. Write a note to someone you love. Find a quiet place to sit down; shut your eyes and see a safe place where you feel protected.

Then go about your business, remembering to take in the beauty and fellowship of the holidays. Peace and good will.

The three spent last Friday evening, along with many residents, at downtown Andover's Holiday Open House. Main Street was closed to automobile traffic. The street was filled with carolers, shoppers, Santa and free horse-drawn carriage rides.

If you have difficulty receiving help . . .

By Perry Colmore Catlin

This is a love letter to those who are on the receiving end of community outreach and who may be having some difficulty accepting the help and love without guilt.

I have written about my friend in Andover who has breast cancer, and how brave she was in the beginning about daring to search for doctors with whom she was comfortable.

Now she is at the stage of going to Boston five days a week for radiation. One day a week she has a double dose: radiation and chemotherapy.

She has been up, taking this blow as best she can, talking about it, still laughing, smiling and generally going about her business. Clearly, she expects to live through this and I feel sure she is right.

But recently she admitted she was tired. The efforts of maintaining her household, worrying about her family's needs, trying to keep up with Christmas traditions, attending to her own needs, working part-time, and making it to her medical appointments in Boston are beginning to show.

Because I work full time, I thought the way I could support her during this frightening time would be to volunteer to be her "ride captain."

"Tell me who has offered to help you and I'll make a list and set up drivers for you so you'll have one less thing to deal with," I told her several weeks ago. "You have enough on your mind, and I want to help in some tangible way. Please let me do this."

She agreed, but until recently, she had arranged her own rides, mostly driving herself into Boston.

Two weeks ago she admitted she was tired and she asked, could I set up rides every day for the following week?

No problem. Finally, I had an assignment.

In fact, not only was it not a problem, it was a pleasure to put together the week's drivers. Working from a long list of her friends, I called on and off during a recent Sunday. I said who I was and that I was looking for rides to Boston for our mutual friend. I "met" many of her friends on the phone, making connections, enjoying conversations, talking about our mutual friend who is facing this time so well.

When I had filled each slot for the week, I phoned my friend to tell her about the week's schedule.

At first, she seemed embarrassed, especially when she heard the name of one of her drivers, a woman who has had cancer herself and who is very busy with various outreach activities in this community.

"She doesn't have to do that," my friend said.

"She wants to do it," I said.

In fact, let me tell my friend – and anyone else who is listening – what it feels like to be able to help someone like her: It feels terrific! It is part of what life is all about.

I think we, your friends, your drivers, are getting more out of this than you. I met your friends on the phone and felt wonderful about the love that is out there for you. So you'll have to accept that we are doing this because we want to.

It's difficult for some of us to believe that we can be loved, that people reach out because they care and because it feels good to give. But

His brother was accosted

Editor, Townsmen:

Wednesday, Nov. 25, my brother left the Doherty School with a friend (both 12 years old) to buy a pizza and return to our home and hang out. Wednesday was a half day, and there were a large number of students in the downtown area. One place in particular where there was a group of high school kids gathered was the bandstand (in The Park at Bartlet and Chestnut streets). My brother and his friend were walking with the boxed pizza and heavy book bags along the walk that passes the bandstand heading to the shuttle bus. Both of them were accosted by a few of these kids for the sole purpose of stealing the pizza.

When word of this incident reached me, I was outraged. What kind of person steals from two young kids? These young kids did not incite this violence. They were simply minding their own business. They were headed home with their lunch on the shuttle.

The park area in front of the town offices is supposed to be safe for everyone. It is a place to rest, walk, sit or picnic. It seems that on half days The Park has now become a gathering place for ne'er-do-wells and malcontents bent on nefarious deeds against the innocent in our community.

What should be done is to enforce a no-loitering policy or have the police patrol in that area on in-service or half days. This will prevent another incident like what happened to my brother and save the sanctity of the park area.

For those who think their vote doesn't count

Editor, Townsmen:

This is to all of the people out there who think that voting in the United States doesn't matter. You're wrong!

Do all you people who don't vote think that the decline in our economy will take care of itself? I hope not, because if you think that then you're wrong again.

You need to vote, unless of course there is not one candidate who interests you in the least. But if that's not the case then what is the big deal? All you U.S. citizens who sit at home and say, "Oh, my vote won't really matter, it's only one vote," are the same people who are wondering why we elected a bad president or wondering why our country is going to shambles.

If you think about it, if all the people who were registered to vote, that didn't vote, voted, there may have been a difference in the election results. If my numbers are correct this past election showed a 54 percent turnout of all registered voters. If the other 46 percent turned out, who knows what could of happened.

The people who don't vote in this country are only making matters worse. All I'm trying to say is that a voter has a privilege and that privilege should be used because if it isn't then the people of the U.S. are the ones that get abused.

You won't catch AIDS from your dentist

Editor, Townsmen:

Wire service stories resulting from an article published in the November 1992 Lancet mislead the public and misinterpret the results of the study quoted. The emphasis of the Lancet article, which the wire services did not report, is that the risk of contracting any disease, including AIDS, from dental instruments and drills is so small as to be of no concern, if proper sterilization procedures are followed.

In fact, in an accompanying editorial, Lancet states that "The dental office is a very safe health care facility and should not be a worrisome environment for the public."

According to Sharon Snider, spokesperson for the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA), "The fact is that all reusable dental handpieces and related instruments are heat sterilized between patients."

No cases of disease transmission from properly sterilized dental instruments have ever been reported.

While the Lancet paper demonstrates that bacteria and other disease-causing agents may be able to survive inside a dental handpiece, proper sterilization techniques, practiced universally, reduce risk to unmeasurable amounts.

The Lancet editorial clearly says that studies continue to confirm the safety of patients in dental offices. The May 1992 Annals of Internal Medicine provides clear evidence against the theory of patient-to-patient transmission through handpieces or other dental instruments. Moreover, a recent study published by the Centers for Disease Control found that among 16,000 patients treated by 32 HIV infected health care workers, not one case of HIV or AIDS transmission was detected after medical or dental therapy.

Dentists and the dental office environment have been dealt a bad hand. Due to one isolated instance in Florida of an infected dentist likely transmitting AIDS to a small group of patients, an entire profession has been wrongly maligned.

Worst of all, unfair and, at times, incorrect media coverage has scared the public and caused untold numbers of people to avoid needed preventive and therapeutic dental treatment.

Our dental offices are safe. Multiple precautions, including appropriate garments, gloves and sterilization procedures, ensure that people can go to their dentist with confidence that their health is being enhanced in a safe environment.

I hope that the Andover Townsman, and the media in general, will recognize that this is the message the public needs most to hear to protect their health.

Notes on receiving help, and chiropractors' credibility

that's a fact, one that is pleasant to learn, and one that my friend is going to learn to live with.

About chiropractors

I had a letter from a chiropractor in Andover concerning a letter from another doctor that we printed in the Townsmen in November. The doctor was replying to a column I wrote about doctors who double-book patients and keep them waiting for their appointments.

I was writing about my chiropractor, who had triple booked three women, including me, at the same time a while ago. Actually, I didn't wait more than a minute or two for that appointment, but I wrote about the experience since meeting two other people in the waiting room with the same appointment seems to be a universal experience.

'Can't you edit what people send to you? I assume your chiropractor has helped you. If so, stand up for him/her instead of allowing another cheap shot to slander our profession.'

In the letter, the doctor responding to my column made a remark about chiropractors: "allowing for the stretch of credibility that chiropractors should be treating patients..." It was what seemed like a casually written remark, an aside that didn't really have much to do with the rest of the letter. The remark was what I call a little bomb. It jumped right out at me when I read the letter. But I left the remark in the letter. It wasn't libelous, albeit it unnecessary and even in bad taste.

So several weeks later, I received a letter from a chiropractor who wrote, "Can't you edit what people send to you? I assume your chiropractor has helped you. If so, stand up for him/her instead of allowing another cheap shot to slander our profession. Our great profession has been put through enough abuse at the hands of the A.M.A. and others."

Right on. I had thought about deleting the remark, but we try to let readers have their say in letters. It's the only place where a reader can completely control (given it's not libelous, in bad taste, much too long, or impossible to understand) what he or she would like to say. If I start slashing and cutting letters, then I am controlling the thoughts and words of readers.

But I would like to say here that, yes, my chiropractor has kept me working, sitting at a computer for hours at a time.

Obviously I believe in and trust chiropractors. I know they have had a bad reputation and have been blamed for more than they deserve. Sure, there are bad ones, just like there are bad everything: doctors, editors, butchers, engineers, all of them.

But I see my chiropractor about every five weeks. If I didn't, I wouldn't be able to type, so close I've come to having repetitive-motion syndrome render me unable to do my work. And besides, chiropractors are the kind of people who would write "stand up for him/her," never assuming that the doctor would only be a man. The chiropractors I have known have been caring people who work with patients to heal them. I trust my chiropractor and know he would tell me if he couldn't solve my problem.

Holiday Open House draws crowds downtown cent, while the residential property values have remained stable and actually increased a little less than 1 percent.

This caused a slight shift in the overall tax burden so that residential property owners pay about 71.9 percent of the total property taxes this year, compared to 70.4 percent last year, and C&I owners pay about 28.1 percent, compared to 29.6 percent last year.

The total tax levy, the amount of money that can be raised by property taxes under the limits of Prop. 2-1/2, for fiscal 1992 was $40.58 million. That increased to $42.33 million in 1993. The increase includes the $1.014 million tax increase allowed under the limits of Prop. 2-1/2, and $736 million in taxes on new properties, which are not subject to 2-12 limits.

At their public hearing, selectmen heard pleas from residents to lighten their burden, and from business owners who also asked for lower taxes.

Selectman Larry Larsen said he does not like the classification shift and agreed with business owners that representatives of the town and the business community should sit down and discuss alternatives to the shift in order to avoid in the future the classification clash between residents and businesses that occurs every year at this time.

$3,000 grant benefits pregnant teens

Catholic Charities, Merrimack Valley, will receive a $3000 grant from the Chisholm Fund to supplement its successful programs for pregnant and mothering teens. Help from Catholic Charities and the the Chisholm Fund monies is available to any pregnant teen-ager or young mother who wants to improve her life circumstances and those of her children. She must be willing to work with a social worker to develop a concrete plan for services and self-improvement. The Christian Fund grant will be used for those services that are not financially available through any other community source.

In January of 1990, 35-year-old Cynthia Chisholm was killed by a drunk driver. She was five months pregnant. At the time of her death, she was working as director of the Lawrence Infant and Toddler Program, which cares for the children of teen-age mothers while they go to work or to school. "When she died," said Mike Chisholm, Cynthia's husband, "Everyone was in shock. People were trying to understand, and wondering what they could do to help. Some of the community wanted to reach out financially. The fund started at that point."

Because Cynthia Chisholm is gone, Mr. Chisholm wants to use the fund to make a difference for her. "I'm not looking for sympathy and neither is my family. And we were not appealing for money either.

The purpose of the fund is to let young mothers know that there are good people in this world that give without expecting anything in return. That was Cynthia." He gives money from the Chisholm Fund to any organization that helps meet the needs of teenage mothers.

What will $100,000 buy in Andover in a house?

said Bill Gurry of Coldwell Banker/Gurry Real Estate.

Bill Krajeski, Andover's assessor, said recently that at the very least, the low-end housing market has stabilized if not increased slightly.

Other than the Essex Street house, the least expensive home Re/Max has listed is a two-bedroom ranch on a 10,000-square-foot lot at 392 North Main St. for $139,900. Re/Max has a two-bedroom, third-floor condo for $69,900 on Crescent Drive.

Hunneman & Co.-Coldwell Banker has a condo on Crescent Drive for $75,500, and one in Washington Park at $85,000, both two bedroom units, but no small homes.

The lowest priced home Valentine has is a two-family for $129,900 on Lewis Street.

"The lowest priced house is $139,900 at the moment," said Abby Johnston at DeWolfe. "We have a lot of condos for under $100,000. We have five condominiums in our office ranging from $51,900 to $79,900."

Two of those are in the Aberdeen Building across from Dunkin Donuts on North Main Street; one is on Longwood Drive; and two are at Washington Park.

"I don't think we have a house under $100,000 in Andover or North Andover," said Doris Lindsay at Prudential Howe Real Estate. "We had one at $139,900, a one-bedroom cape, but that's under agreement. Our least expensive condominium in Andover is a condo on Lupine Road for $104,900."

Howe has a four-bedroom, two-and-a-half bath condo at Temple Place at 50 High St. for $139,500. The asking price on the least expensive house Howe has in Andover is $217,500.

"And that's one of the bricks on North Main Street," Ms. Lindsay said.

The "bricks" are the brick houses mostly north of Shawsheen Square in Shawsheen Village.

Howe had a little house, a 65-year-old, three-bedroom, one-bath colonial on Topping Road for $124,900, but that is already under agreement.

"I have a Balmoral unit, a condo, for $94,900," said Joanna Webster of Century 21/Minuteman.

"We have one (condo) for $84,900 at Balmoral," said Mr. Gurry of Coldwell Banker/Gurry. "That's the only thing in Andover that we have under $100,000. The least expensive (single family) home we have in Andover is $289,900."

Gurry has a duplex on Brechin Terrace for $169,900. Gurry has had a couple of houses that have gone under agreement in the last month or so that were under $100,000. One three-bedroom on Harding Street was listed for $125,400 and a three-bedroom on Chickering Court was on the market for $149,900.

Century 21 Minuteman has a condo on High Street for $79,900 and one at Washington Park for $99,900. The low-

There's a condo for sale in this building, 50 Temple Place, off High Street, for $139,500. It has four bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, contains 1,900 square feet, and has off-street parking.

Several condo units are for sale at Washington Park, which is off North Main Street. They range from $79,900 to $99,900.

This house at 75 Essex Street is the only house in Andover for sale for less than $100,000. It has several fireplaces but needs "some work" inside.

This three-bedroom house at 75 High St. has a 3,050-square-foot lot, a living room, dining room, a driveway (no garage) and its asking price is $137,900.

There is a one-bedroom condo for sale at 55 High St. that has an eat-in kitchen, a living room and bath. It's on the second floor of the building.

est priced house Century 21 has is a two-bedroom with a living room, eat-in kitchen, full bath and one-car garage for $169,900 on Carmel Road.

"Inventory is low right now. All the lower end is sold," Ms. Webster said.

"There are nice houses for under $150,000," said J.B. Doherty, of J.B. Doherty real estate. "But keep in mind our inventory has been very low."

"One sold on Dale Street in Ballardvale for $74,900 back in August," Mr. Doherty said.

In May, a house on River Road sold for $90,000 and another sold in Ballardvale for $106,000.

"In Andover our lowest-priced home is $154,000," Mr. Doherty said. That was for a three-bedroom, one-bath ranch on a 54,000-square-foot lot.

The Victor Company lists a one-bedroom condo at the Balmoral for $95,000, and a Washington Park condo for $86,900, according to broker Cherri Apelian. Victor's least expensive house is a three-bedroom on a 3,050-square-foot lot at 75 High St. for $137,900.

like to live there in another time."

Mr. Strong said his love of Europe is multi-faceted. His mother is French Canadian and his father's family came to America from Germany. Mr. Strong's wife, Michelle Regnat, is from Nassau, France.

His pen name comes from the name with which he was christened, Dieter, and Stark, which means strong in German. He said Stark was changed to Strong when his grandparents immigrated here.

Personal background

Mr. Strong has a son, Kelly, 25, and a daughter, Johanna, 22, from a previous marriage.

He was born in the Lake Champlain region of Vermont, and graduated from Bridgewater High School. He moved to Andover with his family in 1959 when he was a communications student at Boston University. His interest in photography was sparked at BU, but he didn't get hooked until much later in life.

After a six-year enlistment as a U.S. Navy pilot that included a two-year tour during the Vietnam War, he entered the business world. He worked as an employee communications director for several companies until 1985 when he was laid off.

About that same time Mr. Strong began feeling dizzy and was having trouble maintaining his balance. Following several tests he was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis.

"That was the worst year of my life," he said.

Mr. Strong began getting around with the help of a cane, then crutches and leg braces. He now uses a wheelchair because it is easier. He also drives a car modified with hand controls.

How his literary career began

His friend, who later became his publisher, convinced him to try photography as a career.

"My publisher had been to a few of my showings and he told me he thought I had an eye for composition, and why didn't I do something with it," he said.

His first project was a calendar featuring his still life photos, executed in 1990. The next year he did another calendar that had brief descriptions of the photographs.

"The problem was that I wrote too much. I started getting carried away. That's where the idea for this book got started," he said.

Mr. Strong is working to develop a new book concept. He calls the idea "a little morbid." He would like to return to Europe, photograph some of its more historic and unique cemeteries and write short, fictional stories about the people who are buried there.

"I think I'll have to choose tombstones of people who were buried at least 100 years ago to avoid getting sued," he joked.

Besides his latest book project, Mr. Strong plans to tackle another project. When his new, lighter, more maneuverable wheelchair arrives, he plans to take up wheelchair tennis this spring.

COOKING

By Maria Moskos

Beatrix Potter's Peter Rabbit will be celebrating his 100th anniversary in 1993, and if he arrived in Andover probably would be honorably treated to carrot scones made by Shirley Labrie at The English Tea Room and read to by an Andover poet at Tea at Three at Andover Books and Prints.

Andover Books and Prints recently published a collection of tea-time recipes titled Tea at Three: Recipes for Readers. Little sandwiches, tea breads, cakes, cookies and special jams are included. Although the book is small, the selections are unique and probably not offered elsewhere in one's recipe or cookbook collection.

Creative names are given to many of the recipes, such as cookies called Jellicle moon after the moon by which T.S. Elliot's Jellicle cats danced. Quotes by famous writers are scattered throughout the book, such as the following by Emily Dickinson:

"Peter, put up the sunshine;

Patti, arrange the stars
Tell Luna tea is waiting and call your brother, Mars!"

The literary teas are held almost weekly from fall through spring at Andover Books and Prints and feature authors, readers and speakers on a host of subjects. A different type of tea is brewed each week in Chatsford teapots from London and is accompanied by cakes, buttered breads, cookies or sandwiches, depending on whether the tea is simple or elaborate.

The tea-time recipe collection was developed by and for the literary teas, each recipe representing a favorite of those who attend.

Major contributions to this endeavor include Jane Nelson, Catherine Rosen, Ned Williams and bookstore proprietor, V. David Rodger. Tea at Three: Recipes for Readers can be purchased for $4.95 at Andover Books and Prints, 68 Park St.

The Bookstore Wassail is served as a special treat at holiday time and is included in the collection.

5 bottles of very good ale
1 cup dry dark rum
1 large baked apple
1 or more cups cider
1 tsp. powdered ginger
1 tsp. cinnamon
Juice and thinly pared rind of one lemon
Add sugar slowly to taste.
Stir with long stick of cinnamon and leave the stick in. Float toasted croutons on top.

The croutons substituted for the toast traditionally floated on top. In that way, everybody can "drink a toast" as in the original sense of that phrase.

tershire sauce and a dash of onion juice or a teaspoon of horseradish. Blend thoroughly, chop the whites of the eggs separately. Spread yolk mixture on bread, to with chopped egg white and cover with a slice of bread. Trim crusts and cut into shapes. Very good on soft pumpernickel.

After a short walk through Mr. McGregor's garden, Peter stops at the English Tea Room at Lane's End for "fourseys," the expression signifying teatime in England.

The smoke-free tea room is open Tuesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. The tradition of English cream tea (to denote the availability of finger sandwiches) and the most English of snacks, the scone, is held from 1 p.m. to closing. For the "English cream tea," Ms. Labrie serves a pot of Barry's Irish tea, a loose tea that won the Empire Cup award. Three kinds of finger sandwiches, scones and Devonshire cream are also served.

The finger sandwiches are served on Irish coarse bread that Ms. Labrie bakes fresh daily. Cucumber finger sandwiches are always available, but other varieties offered on a rotating basis include salmon, tomato, alfalfa sprouts, cranberry orange, egg salad, grated carrot and cheese. Ms. Labrie also bakes her own scones daily in seven varieties: cheddar oatmeal, oatbran molasses, orange chocolate, cranberry orange, chocolate chip, plain and currant. She also makes her own Devonshire cream.

Also available are crumpets from a bakery on the South Shore and bagels delivered partially processed then baked fresh daily at the tea room and served with Ms. Labrie's freshly-made cheese spreads. Iced, herbal and decaffeinated teas are also available. Ms. Labrie opened the tea room to "recapture the camaraderie, tranquility and enjoyment" of the traditional afternoon tea rituals she enjoyed in Annaghdown, a small parish 12 miles north of Galway where she lived for a while.

The small round tables covered with floral chintz fabric with chair cushions to match and the lace curtains on the windows provide an intimate, authentic sitting for "the leisureliness of an afternoon well spent." Ms. Labrie wants people to relax and enjoy their tea and conversation. She enjoys watching people linger over conversations,

{ If You Think An Accident Does A Number On Your Car, }
Consider What It Can Do To Your Schedule. }

The bad news is, you're involved in a car accident. The good news is, it's not too serious. No one wants to find themselves in this situation, but Shirley Boone did recently. So she drove herself to Walk In/Urgent Care at the Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center in Wilmington. Knowing that all of the doctors at the Family Medical Center are members of the Winchester Hospital staff, Shirley knew she was getting high quality care. She also benefited from the fact that the Family Medical Center has added more physicians for primary care, and we've completely renovated our facility for improved patient service. And since lab and radiology capabilities are all on-site, Shirley didn't have to make another trip. Or take up any more time. Which just goes to show that when you know where to go, getting high quality care is no accident. Location: 500 Salem Street, Wilmington. Just off

Samaritans seek volunteers

The Samaritans of Merrimack Valley have trained 420 people for work on their suicide prevention hotlines since their opening in 1980. Andover has provided more volunteers than any other town in the Valley, more than 80.

This year, the Samaritans hope to recruit at least 40 new volunteers, who will work one five-hour shift a week and one overnight a month on the phones, befriending people in crisis.

A new line for Spanish-speaking callers is monitored by a group of six bilingual volunteers, with the help of an answering machine. More bilingual volunteers are urgently needed.

All volunteers must be at least 20 years old and have the ability and patience to listen to callers who may be lonely, despairing or suicidal. The Samaritans are located in a new building which provides a comfortable, secure setting for all shifts, at 169 East St., Methuen.

The Samaritans, an international organization, was founded in England in 1953 and began in the states in 1974. Programs include telephone befriending and outreach programs, including school workshops, support groups for those bereaved by suicide and suicide prevention programs in jails.

Call The Samaritans at 688-0030.

Historical Society's Holiday Open House is Sunday

The Andover Historical Society's Holiday Open House is Sunday, Dec. 13, from 2 to 4 p.m. A special seasonal exhibit in cooperation with the Andover Garden Club sets the scene for choral arrangements by the Robert Frost School Select Chorus. Homemade refreshments and hot cider add more cheer at this annual event offered by the Andover Historical Society, 97 Main St.

The society will display old Christmas cards. Of local interest are several cards designed by architect Addison B. Le Boutillier. All are pen-and-ink sketches. The earliest dates from 1908.

The beginning of Christmas cards in this country, writes Dorothy Hill, a former president of the historical society, is with the work of one dominant personality, Louis Prang of Boston. A fugitive from the German revolution of 1848, he perfected multicolor lithographic printing in 1866 and turned his new skills to Christmas cards in 1874. To acquire the best art work, he started prize contests on a scale never before attempted. His cards in numerous colors were successful here and abroad until 1890.

Andover Theatre Company to perform 'Tis the Season

'Tis the Season, Andover Theatre Company's winter production, is ready for the live audiences coming this weekend. The Best Christmas Pageant Ever will open the evening with a cast of 40 children and 10 veteran actors of community theater. This hilarious one-act play pits the mother, Mrs. Bradley, played by Kathleen Toland, against the horrible Herdman children, played by Jason Pratt, Megan Gregg, Danae Fegan, Dan Luther, Marc D'Agostino and Lauren Marsh, as they have been cast in all the lead roles in the annual Christmas pageant. The entertainment continues after intermission with performances of holiday music by area vocalists. Refreshments and caroling make a total holiday event.

Performance dates are Friday and Saturday, Dec. 11-12, at 8 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 13, at 3 p.m. at Doherty auditorium on Bartlet Street. Tickets are $8 for adults and $5 for seniors and children. Tickets may be purchased at the Department of Community Services, Butler's Pantry, cast members or at the door. For more information, call 475-7476 or 474-1014.

Mrs. Armstrong, played by Alice Pascucci, is a nagging director who breaks her leg and can't direct the Christmas pageant; she phones in her instructions to the new director, Mrs. Bradley, played by Kathleen Toland. 'Tis the Season will be at Doherty auditorium this weekend; it starts off with an 8 p.m. Friday performance.

Handel's Messiah benefit holiday concert by Phillips Academy Community Chorus

The music department at Phillips Academy will sponsor its fifth annual benefit holiday concert on Friday, Dec. 11, at 7 p.m., featuring excerpts from Messiah, an oratorio by George F. Handel, in support of Neighbors in Need, Inc., a food pantry in the greater Lawrence area, and the American and International Red Cross. This concert, under the direction of William Thomas, will take place in Cochran Chapel, Chapel Avenue on the PA campus.

Messiah is the most familiar, and one of the most beloved, of the 21 oratorios Handel wrote. Based on Biblical texts, the music follows the life of Christ in a series of contemplative and inspirational musical settings.

Neighbors in Need, Inc. prepares 'meals in a bag' to be distributed daily at different locations throughout the area. Its main objective is to respect each person and share what has been given. As admission to the concert, nonperishable food donations will be taken. The four food categories are canned protein foods (fish, meat, stews, soups); canned fruits and vegetables; and grains (dried beans, rice, pasta, oatmeal).

The Phillips Academy Community Chorus is made up of PA faculty and staff and singing friends throughout the Merrimack Valley.

The Academy Chamber Players are academy faculty and staff and other professional musicians from the Merrimack Valley and North Shore areas.

The public is invited to support this benefit. General admission is $5; senior citizens and students may be admitted with nonperishable or canned food donations.

Advent season commemorated with lessons, carols at Christ Church Sunday

The Parish of Christ Church will commemorate the Advent season with a Service of Lessons and Carols for Advent this Sunday, Dec. 13, at 4 p.m. The service will be followed by a tea and crumpet reception in the Christ Church Parish Hall. The Andover community is invited to the Lessons and Carols Service in the church and to the tea. The ecumenical service will involve the clergy from Andover area churches and the Parish Choir of Christ Church, under the direction of Renea Waligora, will provide the music for the candle-light service. The offering from the service will be contributed to AIDS Action of Andover.

The Rev. James A. Diamond, rector of the Parish of Christ Church, will be the officiant for the Lessons and Carols Service. The lectors presenting the readings are the Rev. Arthur Driscoll, St. Robert Bellarmine Church; the Rev. Marsha Irmer, Faith Lutheran Church; the Rev. Joseph La Du, West Parish Church; the Rev. Calvin Mutti, South Church; the Rev. Peter Richardson, Unitarian Universalist Church; the Rev. Imogene Stulken, campus minister at the University of Massachusetts Lowell; and the Rev. Donald R. Woodward of Christ Church. This is also an occasion when the Andover clergy and their families gather for a supper at the Christ Church rectory that same evening.

The four weeks of Advent, the Christian time of preparation for Christmas, are often forgotten in the preparation for the Christmas holiday. These four weeks are actually more historical in their celebrations than is the current form of Christmas festivities.

Lessons and Carols services are relative newcomers to the United States, being copies of the now famous service held annually, since 1918, at King's College, Cambridge, England. The origin of this service dates back to the reign of King Henry VI of England in the mid-15th century.

The lessons for Advent are full of prophecy from Hebrew Scripture. Interspersed between each reading are Advent hymns and carols, which reflect the subject matter of The Word.

Andover AMC sponsoring 3-mile reservations walk this Sunday

The Andover Appalachian Mountain Club has scheduled a three-mile walk through the Purdon and Indian Ridge reservations on Sunday, Dec. 13, and then on to the early 19th-century Smith and Dove Millyard. Leader Warren Lewis of Andover will provide a brief historical commentary. Hot chocolate and cookies will be served at the conclusion of the walk. The public is welcome on this free walk and registration is not required. Meet at Roger's Dell at the junction of School Street and Lupine Road at 1:30 p.m.

Lady hoopsters out to win, earn respect

By Rick Harrison

It's unlikely that fans of the Andover High girls' varsity basketball team will fall asleep during games this winter.

The Lady Warriors will be an aggressive, uptempo, frantic and frenetic crew.

"We're not huge, by any stretch of the imagination, so we better be scrappy and play good defense," said Coach George Sullivan. "We'll have to play a lot bigger than we are, work hard, show a lot of heart and earn our opponent's respect."

The Merrimack Valley Conference coaches already seem to have ample respect for Andover, slotting them in second place behind defending State Division 1 champion Haverhill in the league's Large School Division pre-season poll.

That's where they finished last year, losing to only two teams all season en route to a 19-4 overall record that included Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament wins over Lexington (55-44) and Cambridge Rindge & Latin (57-37).

Haverhill beat Andover handily three times, however, bouncing the locals from the tourney (63-45), and the other setback was to North Andover (44-39) in the semifinal round of the Greater Lawrence Christmas Tournament.

Andover will host the eight-team XMas tourney this year, meeting Salem, N.H. in the opening round nightcap on Dec. 26 (6:30 p.m.).

The season opener comes next Tuesday night at Haverhill (6 p.m.), and the home opener on Friday, Dec. 18 against Wilmington (6 p.m.). The girls will play prior to the boys' varsity game against all conference foes, and non-league games have been lined up against North Andover (Jan. 9, away), North Reading (Jan. 27, home), Everett (Feb. 3, home) and Masconomet Regional (Feb. 17, away).

Wiped out inside

"We lost almost everyone who played inside for us last year," noted Coach Sullivan. "That's where the major rebuilding will have to come."

The five key graduates were Grace Perry (UNH), Zahia Kattar (UNH), chairwoman of the boards Amy O'Sullivan (Boston College), Melissa McNamara (Boston College) and Stephanie Kupa (Trinity).

"Amy, 'Z' and Stephanie rotated all the time to give us fresh players under the boards, and we'll miss Grace's (over 700 career points) speed, aggressiveness and Melissa's defensive intensity and tenacity," said Coach Sullivan.

This year Coach Sullivan, new junior varsity coach Kathy McDermott (Methuen grad) and freshman Coach Jay Darrin greeted 40 varsity, junior varsity and 29 freshman candidates at the first practice.

The only returning starters are two good ones, senior Tri-Captains Kerry Hagerty

AHS winter sports season starts Monday

The Andover High winter sports season kicks off next Monday afternoon when both the girls' and boys' track teams travel to the Methuen High Field House for Merrimack Valley Conference dual meets against the Rangers (3:30 p.m.).

The boys' and girls' basketball teams won't be far behind, launching their MVC seasons next Tuesday night at Haverhill. The girls' tap off in the 6 p.m. opener with the boys to follow at about 7:30 p.m.

The home opener in hoop is slated for next Friday (Dec. 18) when Wilmington invades the Dunn Gymnasium (girls at 6, boys at 7:30).

Hockey Wednesday

The Andover hockey team opens next Wednesday night at Haverhill (8 p.m.), and the Golden Warriors will then play a pair of non-league road games Dec. 19 at Beverly and Dec. 23 at Concord-Carlisle before the non-league home opener against Malden the day after Christmas at Merrimack College (Dec. 26, 12:15 p.m.).

The boys' swim team is at Lowell next Thursday in its MVC opener (3:30 p.m.).

Four other AHS winter teams will start after the first of the year.

The girls' ski team faces Methuen Jan. 8 on Bradford Hill, while the boys' North Shore League ski opener is Jan. 13 in a tri-meet against Haverhill and Bishop Fenwick of Peabody.

The boys' gymnastics team hosts Boston English in its opener Jan. 5, and the girls' gymnastics team has a dual meet at Dracut on Jan. 7 before returning home Jan. 12 to host Chelmsford.

Defending MVC champs

The undefeated girls' gym (9-0-0) and boys' swim (6-0-0) teams are coming off MVC championship seasons, the first for both, with the girls' gym team also placing third in the North Sectionals and All-State Meet.

Boys' basketball finished 16-8 overall and advanced four games into the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament last year, girls' basketball was 19-4 and made it to the third round of the tourney, hockey was 13-8-2 and reached the third round of the Division 2 tournament.

Both boys' and girls' track finished 7-3-0 in dual meets, boys' ski was 8-6-0, girls' ski 6-4-0 and boys' gym 2-12-0 with primarily a freshman-sophomore squad.

Coaches and practices

Andover winter teams, like their counterparts across the state, have been practicing since the Monday after Thanksgiving. Some varsity teams have been chosen, while others are still in the process of being selected by the coaches.

Indoor track team's strength is in numbers

By Rick Harrison

Although the Andover High boys' and girls' indoor track teams both graduated several outstanding individual talents, including State Class B hurdles champ Jason McCue and school 50 yard/55 meter dash record-holder Jill Ippolito, the Warriors should still find themselves among the Merrimack Valley Conference title challengers during the upcoming 1992-93 winter season.

Head Coach Art Iworsley's squads will be out to duplicate or surpass last year's performance, when both teams finished second in the MVC Large School Division with 6-2-0 records and went 7-3-0 overall.

"Our strength is in numbers," noted Coach Iworsley, who has 66 boys and 56 girls working out in preparation for next Monday's opening dual meet against Methuen at the Rangers' Field

Warrior b'ball: Young team needs time

By Rick Harrison

For the first time in four years Andover High boys' varsity basketball Coach Dave Fazio has more pieces of the puzzle scattered on the side than he has locked firmly in place.

The graduation of seven seniors, including Massachusetts Division 1 Player-of-the-Year Sean Ryan (now at Monmouth College) and starters Kevin Ring (Westfield State) and Chris Shea (Brandeis), shrouds the start of this 1992-93 season in mystery.

"It's going to take some time for us to come together," noted Coach Fazio. "Hopefully by the middle of the season we'll be a very good team. We're young and inexperienced."

That may be an understatement, with eight of the 12 varsity players underclassmen including four sophomores.

In addition to the Big Three of Ryan, injury-prone Shea and Ring, other graduates from last year's 16-8 squad include Mike Pettoruto (Westfield State), Matt Harris (UMass-Lowell) and Doug Cullen.

The Golden Warriors also lost junior Toby Guzowski, a three-sport standout who is unable to play because of recurring back problems.

"Our strength will definitely be in the backcourt, and we should be helped by the fact the league (Merrimack Valley Conference) appears to be wide open for the second straight year," said Coach Fazio.

"The coaches were picking Central Catholic (Fazio's alma mater), but one of their big players (Andy) Baker is out injured until January. They were also picking Billerica, but its big sophomore transfer (Ken Davis) moved back home (Chicago).

"Lowell is an unknown, and could always be dangerous, while every team in the Small School Division has improved. So it could come down to the final week just as it did last year," noted Coach Fazio.

Andover finished 11-4 in the MVC, 13-7 during the regular season, and won Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament games over Woburn (69-44), Salem (58-55, ot) and Cambridge Rindge & Latin (52-50) before being ousted by Lexington (68-55) in the North Sectional semifinal.

Fazio's three-year record at Andover reads 44-24 with consecutive 14-8 tournament seasons preceding last year.

Coach Fazio and assistants Bob Hatem and Paul Willis greeted 75 candidates, including 40 freshmen, at the opening practice.

Personnel

The two returning starters are junior guard and Tri-Captain Kirk Stockwood (6'0") and senior forward and Tri-Captain Mark Lastrina (6'2").

Stockwood scored 118 points, including seven three-pointers, and Lastrina 106 points last winter.

Other returning lettermen are senior small forward and Tri-Captain Dave Gardner (6'1"), senior guard John Martin (6'0"), and sophomore guard Tom Tanin (6'1") who was elevated to the varsity at tournament time.

The key to the team could be senior transfer student Mike Roberts, a 6'1" point-guard from the suburbs of Detroit, Michigan. "Mike's a great addition," said Coach Fazio. "He's definitely going to help a lot."

Elevated from the junior varsity squad are junior point-guard Frank Paone (5'11") and junior forwards J.J. McCormick (6'0") and junior forward John Donovan (6'2").

Other sophomores joining Tanin are forwards Eric Danis (6'0"), Matt Gibson (6'4") and Chris Brown (6'5").

"Roberts, Stockwood, Tanin and Danis will give us a solid backcourt nucleus," said Coach Fazio.

Scrimmages

The Warriors opened their pre-season scrimmage schedule last week by beating Burlington easily.

They also went against Belmont, expected to be one of the top teams in Eastern Mass. with 6'7" and 6'8" players up front. "We handled ourselves well against them," said Coach Fazio. "Belmont won the scrimmage but I was satisfied with our effort."

A third Middlesex League team, Melrose, will provide the opposition for the final practice game.

The regular season opens next Tuesday night at Haverhill, and the first home game is Friday against Wilmington.

The opening round opponent in the Greater Lawrence Christmas Tournament will be Lawrence High, Dec. 22 at 8:15 p.m. at Merrimack College.

"That one will be interesting because I'll be coaching against my best friend," said Fazio, referring to first-year Lancers' head coach Dave Giribaldi. "I was the best man at his wedding."

JV, frosh rosters

Meet the boys' basketball coaches tomorrow night

The Andover High boys' basketball teams will hold a "Meet the Coaches Night" tomorrow (Friday, Dec. 11) from 6-7 p.m. at the Andover High gymnasium.

All youngsters from Andover are welcome to attend, especially those involved on school teams, traveling teams or with the Church Basketball League.

AHS Coaches Dave Fazio (varsity), Bob Hatem (junior varsity) and Paul Willis (freshman) will be on hand.

The Andover High varsity will conduct a Blue-Gold scrimmage, and several other fun things are planned.

(5'8") and Lindsey Sweeney (5'5").

Hagerty was elevated to the varsity late in her freshman year, scored 52 points as a sophomore and exploded for 262 points last year.

Sweeney, another four-year player and perennial All-Conference, netted 34 points as a freshman, 210 as a sophomore and 164 in a more passive offensive role last season.

Both are three-sport standouts, Hagerty in volleyball and track and Sweeney in soccer and softball.

Lettermen

Other returning lettermen are senior forward Marcia Gemmell (5'8"), senior forward Erinne Sullivan (5'8"), senior guard Tara Griffin (5'7") and senior forward Amy Cassidy (5'7"). Griffin scored 34 points, Cassidy 32 and Gemmell 27 last year.

Returning is senior center Beth Everett (5'10"), who last played as a sophomore.

A potential key when she returns from injured reserve is junior center Carrie Green (5'10"), a volleyball stand out who had orthoscopic surgery on her knee last Friday after injuring it playing pickup basketball recently.

Elevated from the JV squad are junior guard Rachel Buonopane (5'6") and sophomore forward Leah Mason (5'8"), while other sharp looking underclassmen on the varsity are sophomore forward-center Kim Daher (5'8"), sophomore guard Jen Griffin (5'6") and freshman guard Kate Jurdi (5'6").

"I see a lot of Kerry Hagerty in Leah Mason, and that's good," said Coach Sullivan. "She (Mason) is aggressive on the boards and a solid all-around athlete (volleyball All-Star)."

"I don't want to rush any freshmen into varsity competition, but Katie Jurdi handles the ball like Grace (Perry) and Lindsey Sweeney and has a good outside shot we're encouraging her to take more often."

"I think we'll take a few lumps early, but the way the girls have been hustling and scrapping in scrimmages I know we'll be competitive. Right now we're unloved and unrespected by the other MVC teams, but we'll change that quickly."

Scrimmages

The Lady Warriors had a tri-scrimmage with Salem, N.H. and Phillips Academy last week, holding their own against two physically larger teams. Tomorrow North Andover will provide the opposition in the beginning of a busy weekend, which features a scrimmage against Salem, Ma. on Saturday and a stint against Wakefield in the annual Masconomet Jamboree on Sunday in Topsfield.

Coach Sullivan, who carries a 74-34 overall record into the season, feels Haverhill and Methuen will once again be the teams to beat.

Seventh grade girls' basketball team wins invitational

The Andover seventh grade girls' traveling basketball team opened its 1992-93 season by entering and winning the Stoneham Invitational Tournament recently, defeating Reading (34-20), Winchester (31-14) and Chelmsford (46-13) en route to the title.

Andover used man-to-man pressure defense to wear down a much taller Reading team in its tourney opener, breaking open a close one-point contest (15-14) with a 19-6 second-half run.

Sarah Muller led the offense with 13 points, Charlotte Muller added 10, Viki Pierce four, Julie Viola three, Laura Orlando two and Julie Litzenberger two free throws.

Litzenberger, Viola and Charlotte Muller were strong off the boards, Pierce played a solid defensive game, and the Muller sisters did a fine job breaking the Reading press.

Semifinal round foe Winchester also stayed with Andover in the first half, trailing only 12-8 at intermission, but the locals pulled away with another 19-6 second-half burst.

Charlotte Muller, who netted 11 first-half points, outscored the quick Winchester team by herself with a game-high 17.

Sarah Muller tossed in five points, Viki Pierce four, Julie Viola and Jenna Hartwell two apiece and Caroline Torrisi one free throw.

The Muller sisters combined for 31 points to sink Chelmsford in the tourney's championship game.

This one was never in doubt, Andover racing to a commanding 18-5 halftime lead with a combination of strong defense and excellent offensive ball movement.

Charlotte Muller led the way with 16 points, Sarah Muller added 15 including 11 in the first half, and Laura Orlando notched all eight of her points in the second half.

Kelley Walsh contributed three points, Kaitlin Dargan two and Jeanna Hartwell two to round out the Andover attack.

Tops defensively and off the boards were Caroline Torrisi, Julie Litzenberger, Viki Pierce, Charlotte Muller and Orlando.

The Muller sisters once again handled and distributed the ball well.

The Andover seventh graders, coached by former AHS State championship team guard Dick Muller (1970), will enter several other tournaments and play in at least one league this winter.

"It's tough to predict which events we'll be strong in, but we should know a lot more after Thursday's (today) practice meet at Reading. "We have a lot of first-year runners, and our training facilities (Andover High parking lots and school corridors for the most part) can't match up with teams like Lowell or Methuen (field houses)."

But the Warriors will show up, and don't be surprised if they come away winners on a consistent basis.

Iworsley, beginning his third year as indoor head coach after 13 seasons as an assistant, is working with two new assistants.

Former North Andover and Wilmington assistant Tim McCarron will direct the hurdlers, high jumpers and shot putters, while longtime Andover freshman coach (outdoors) Karl Lippmann will instruct the middle distance runners.

They replace Peter Comeau and Rich Leonard, both of whom have gone on to other pur suits.

Andover girls

All that separated the Lady Warriors from an indoor title last year was a two-point loss (44-42) to Billerica and an 11-point setback to eventual MVC dual meet champ Chelmsford.

The three key graduates from that team are Jill Ippolito (attending Yale University), along with middle distance runners Holly Clark (600) and Layne Whitley (1000).

Heading the list of veterans are senior Quad-Captains Alex Wendt (sprints, shot put), Ellen Sullivan (distance), Amanda Holmes (distance) and Jen Batts (middle distance).

Other returning seniors are Heather Holmender (long distance), Tricia McNeice (long distance), Suzanne Doucette (shot put) and Lisa Perdigao (high jump).

Junior standouts will be Stacey Lavoie (hurdles), Leigh Clarke (middle distances), Kelly Cronin (long distance), Andrea Minichiello (sprints), Sarah Witman (sprints), Valerie Gould (middle distances) and Madhavi Reddy (long distance).

Sophomore leaders are Amy Levesque (sprints), Amanda Pettoruto (sprints), Melissa Gould (sprints) and Rebecca Goldenberg (hurdles).

Other sophomores who are new indoors but had excellent spring campaigns last year are Jamie Barron (sprints) and Julia Rozopolos (sprints, middle distance).

Stacey Lavoie is the defending State Class B hurdles champ, but a leg problem may force her to switch to the sprints instead.

"She seems to be having a hamstring problem and has lost some flexibility," said Coach Iworsley.

Sarah Witman also qualified for the State Meet last winter, advancing to the finals in the 300 dash.

Jen Batts, Lavoie and Witman also represent 75 per cent of last year's AHS mile relay team which scored in the Class B Meet.

Coach Iworsley sees Masconomet Regional, defending champ Chelmsford, Lowell and Billerica as strong teams in the MVC girls' division this season.

Andover boys

In addition to State champ Jason McCue (URhode Island), the Andover boys will sorely miss sprinter Jamie Damon (Emory College, Atlanta, Ga.) who placed in the Class B 50 last year, sprinter Ryan Kelly (Brown) and two-miler Jeremy Roux.

However, back for one last go-around is versatile senior Quad-Captain Steve Shepard.

Shepard, who placed fourth in the State Class B 300 last season and scored in both the 300 and long jump at the New England Meet, will do a little bit of everything.

"He'll alternate among the 50, 300, hurdles, high jump and mile relay," said Coach Iworsley. "Wherever we need Steve most in a particular meet, that's where he'll be."

The Golden Warriors' other captains are Colin Arsenault (600), an MVC All-Star last year, J.P. Ciruso (shot put) and Brian Twomey (mile, 2-mile).

Returning seniors also include Peter Murphy (sprints), Jon Cirella (hurdles), Eric Fox (hurdles), Drew Leinson (high jump), Ben Moyer (long distance), Sean Harris (long distance) and Bryan Adams (shot put).

Senior newcomers are John Hess, a top long jumper last spring, Rocket Rod Lumley (sprints) and soccer star Josh Nelken who "has looked good everywhere we've put him" according to Coach Iworsley.

The small list of juniors is led by Max Dawson (long distance), Chris Stamm (long distance), Jim Stratton (long distance), Rob Weisman (sprints) and Doug Edmonds (middle distance).

The strong sophomore class is led by Mark Adams (long distance), Chad Collins (long distance), Matt Ely (middle distance), Tom Gardner (sprints), Jon Hall (high jump), Patrick Harding (high jump), Brian Marshall (sprints, hurdles), Bob Minasian (hurdles), Kevin Shepard (long distance) and Max Soong (middle distance).

Adams, Collins, Ely and Hall did well last spring as freshmen on the varsity squad outdoors.

Two freshmen prospects, distance runners Charlie Russo and Leo Blais, have looked good in pre-season workouts.

The boys also have 75 per cent of their mile relay team back with Cirella, Arsenault and Ely. Shepard stepped in occasionally but McCue was the fourth man in most meets.

Other teams looking good on the boys' side are Central Catholic, Lowell, Chelmsford and Billerica.

Kids earn awards at basketball school

The 10th annual Red Raiders Basketball School, run by Andover's Charlie Ryan, listed several Andover youngsters among its skill contest award winners.

In the boys' division, 1-on-1 champs included 16-year-old Tom Tanin, 16-year-old Kirk Stockwood and 14-year-old Jeff Thompson, free throw winners included 13-year-old Brendan Long and Thompson, and hot shot champs included 15-year-old Paul McNeice, 10-year-old Brad Stubenhaus and Long.

In the girls' division, 14-year-old Meghan Lynch was a 1-on-1 champ, 14-year-old Allyson Ahern placed first in both hot shot and 1-on-1, and 15-year-old Kara Rossini in both free throw shooting and hot shot.

Sean Ryan is a 6'1", 160-pound freshman guard for the Division 1 Monmouth College mens' varsity basketball team.

He will make his only local appearance of the season this Saturday afternoon (Dec. 12) at Northeastern University.

The game between Monmouth and Northeastern will tap off at 3 p.m.

The 19-year-old Andover High graduate should team with fellow freshman John Giraldo to make up the Hawks' backcourt of the future.

"Sean has the ability to play either guard position, and he has demonstrated the capability to be a consistent three-point shooter."

Sean Ryan said Monmouth Coach Wayne Szoke.

The much-heralded Andover recruit is expected to improve the New Jersey college's perimeter game immediately.

Ryan was selected as the Massachusetts Division 1 high school Player-of-the-Year last winter as a senior at tournament qualifier Andover High.

He averaged 21.8 points, 5.2 rebounds, 7.2 assists and 4.3 steals per game as a senior, and the consensus All-Scholastic was also an honorable mention All-America pick by USA Today.

The Merrimack Valley Conference and Andover team Most Valuable Player also hit the winning shot in the National AAU Junior Men's Championship Game.

Sean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ryan, 4 Cindy Lane, is the only four-year varsity basketball player in Andover High history.

former and All-American nominee.

Matt started his college career at Auburn University in Georgia, but later transferred to Georgia Tech when Coach Sonny Smith left Auburn.

Geiger appeared in the NCAA Top-64 Tournament as a freshman and senior, with Georgia Tech advancing to the Round-of-16 last March before being eliminated in overtime.

Geiger was a second round pick, the 42nd choice overall, in the NBA draft last summer.

Jim Hanning did well during his first fall season with the national powerhouse University of Maine baseball team.

Hanning, unbeatable and nearly unhittable throughout the State championship high school and successful American Legion baseball seasons last spring and summer, should fit somewhere into the Black Bears' pitching rotation next spring.

The Massachusetts State Division 1 Player-of-the-Year was reportedly told by the UMaine coaches that he could get as many as three or four starts next spring.

And if he does well that number could soar, although they don't want to break the freshman in too fast.

UMaine has a spring trip to Texas in 1993 and will go to Hawaii in 1994.

***

Professional New York Mets minor league pitcher Rob Carpentier, formerly of Andover, is spending part of the off-season working at The Andover Hockey Shop in town.

Carpentier reports back to spring training in February.

Rob did not have a great 1992 season stats-wise, but he is looking forward to the upcoming campaign.

"They changed my whole pitching style," he explained. "They dropped me down to sidearm and it's taken some time to get used to it. I don't throw as hard now, and every so often last year in games I'd find myself moving back up close to an overhand delivery without even realizing it. It's a big adjustment."

Carpentier occasionally goes up to the University of New Hampshire to work out, "but good places to throw are hard to find around here (climate) this time of year," he noted.

Former Andover High varsity coach Dave Bettencourt is now at UNH, of course, as is Carpentier's cousin Bill Batchelder.

Batchelder, who started at Creighton University in the Midwest and transferred briefly to UMaine before deciding on UNH, drew the interest of the Wildcats' football coaching staff who knew he was on campus.

Batchelder passed for over 30 touchdowns and 3,000 yards in two seasons as the starting quarterback at Governor Dummer Academy.

There are no plans for Bill to play football at UNH, but had he somehow joined the team this fall it could have been a bona fide "Andover Connection" with Batchelder throwing to John Perry.

Batchelder, a pretty fair catcher, will probably do what he does best for Bettencourt at UNH. He was a top-notch short reliever for the Lowell Braves in the fast-paced Eastern Mass. Stan Musial League last summer, the role he will probably fill in Durham as well.

Speaking of UNH, former Andover High multi-talented triple threat athlete Kasie Kearins (diving, gymnastics, spring track) is a diver on the Wildcats' varsity swim team.

KK is one of eight divers on the UNH squad, three girls and five guys, and the Wildcats have four pre-Christmas vacation meets under its belt.

"It's a long season. We practiced for several months before the meets started (in November), and I was working out on both boards (one- and three-meter) an average of three hours a day six days a week," said the freshman standout. "It's a pretty demanding schedule, but it's paying off because I've improved a lot."

The Wildcats are on break following their most recent meet, last Saturday against Fairfield, and they return to action after the first of the year.

"In January the team is going to Florida to practice at the Olympic training site in Fort Lauderdale," said Kasie. "We're all pretty excited about that."

Kasie was a State class diver, top all-around gymnastics performer for Andover's best team in years (9-0-0 MVC dual meet and overall champs, third in Sectionals and State Meet), and a crack high hurdler and part-time long jumper on the track team.

Yvon Cormier and Brendan Sheehy, both of Andover, will be among 280 top amateur golfers from across the United States competing for a share of the $60,000 charity purse at the Lexus Champions for Charity National championship which will take place Dec. 10-12 at the PGA West Resort in La Quinta, Calif. The duo reached the national championship by winning their qualifying event at Andover Country Club on June 3. They are being sponsored by Ira Lexus of Danvers. The top twosome at the 54-hole event will win $25,000 for their home charity. The duo's winning will benefit the American Heart Association.

This year's clinic featured lectures from TV Channel 25/WEEI Radio sportscaster Jimmy Myers, UMass-Lowell mens' hoop coach Gary Manchel, Salem State College mens' coach Jim Todd, Salem State womens' coach Tim Shea (1986 NCAA champions), point-guard for the 1988 NCAA Division 2 champion UMass-Lowell team Bobby Licare, and Haverhill High girls' team head coach Kevin Woelfel (three-time state champions).

Numerous area Merrimack Valley high school and college coaches, including Andover High varsity boys' skipper Dave Fazio, were on the camp staff.

Charlie Ryan, former Lowell High boys' varsity coach, is the camp director and Lowell High girls' assistant coach Dennis Canney the program director.

The sports bar at the Royal Dragon.

Royal Dragon

The Royal Dragon restaurant in Lawrence has the best Chinese food in the Merrimack Valley, according to its many customers. Authentic Hong Kong style food is a specialty at the Royal Dragon, as well as Szechuan and Cantonese style; and they also offer a large selection of Polynesian meals. As a holiday treat, get out of the kitchen and let someone else do the cooking.

Through football season, the Royal Dragon is offering a "Football Special" in the sports bar. This special is available

Saturday afternoons until 4 p.m., Sunday afternoons until 7 p.m. and on Monday nights for Monday Night Football. The $5.00 fee covers two draft beers and 1 trip to the buffet. Come in and enjoy the game on the big screen TV, and enjoy a great meal at a great price as well. The sports bar also offers video games and dart boards for the patrons' enjoyment.

From now until New Year's Eve, every purchase of food, both take-out and dine-in, will enter you in the New Year's Eve Raffle. Your purchase gives you a chance to win one of 20 prizes which include a 19" color TV, AM-FM cassette player/radio, and a Polaroid camera.

The Royal Dragon is located at 160 Winthrop Ave., Lawrence, in the Stadium Plaza.

It is a convenient place to stop for dinner before or after the movies at the Showcase Cinema. Hours are 11:30 a.m. to 1 a.m. Monday through Saturday; noon to 1 a.m. on Sundays. Telephone: 686-6969. Susan Pokress

Owner John Clifford Clifford Jewelers

One of the outstanding features of Clifford Jewelers is the unique custom work that is provided by owner John Clifford. You may view one-of-a-kind pieces he has created, or make an appointment to design your own piece.
Many rings, bracelets, pendants and earrings are exclusively created for the store by him and are available for your particular taste. He is also skilled at repairing heirloom jewelry. Customers may bring in used gold (broken chains, ring settings, etc.) and John will design, at considerable savings, a jewelry piece that will be wearable. This preserves the sentimental value, as the same gold is used. Manager Jean Foley is very knowledgeable in the jewelry field and is available to assist the customer in the selection of personal items or gifts.

Clifford Jewelers carries gold and stone jewelry, sterling silver, pearls, a new line of scarab jewelry and children's jewelry. A full line of watches is also available.

Clifford Jewelers now has two locations for your holiday shopping needs. In North Andover, they are located at 109
Main St. In Salem, N.H., at Newman's
Plaza. The Salem store offers the same fine service that customers enjoy at Clifford's North Andover location, including repair and custom shop. Most repairs are performed while the customer waits; jewelry repairs are not sent out.

They specialize in appraisals, which are also done while you wait (items do not have to be left at the store.)

Clifford Jewelers' North Andover store is located at Messima's Plaza, 109
Main St. They are open Monday through Saturday. Telephone: 682-4653. The Salem, N.H. location is 450 South
Broadway, Rte. 28, at Newman's Plaza, across from Salem Tri-Cinema.
Telephone: (603) 894-5755. John Clifford is at the North Andover store on Wednesday and Friday afternoons and available in Salem all other times.

AARP plans Christmas party for seniors

By Mary Byrne-Potvin

AARP is having a Christmas party at the Andover Senior Center on Tuesday, Dec. 15, at 1:30 p.m. All members are invited. This meeting is being held one week earlier than usual. Everyone is asked to bring a non-perishable food gift or mittens and gloves for children, unwrapped, to be donated to Bread and Roses in Lawrence. Refreshments will be served.

Here's tax help

People may not be thinking about taxes now, but income tax filing season is just around the corner. Planning early will allow time to gather missing information or forms you may need.

Over the next few weeks residents should receive documents that will help complete returns. Records should include W-2s, 1099s and bank interest statements. Also, IRS will send a tax package based on the return people filed last year.

The IRS advises not to just sit back and wait for the mail: use time now to put together any records; medical and dental payments; real estate tax receipts; mortgage interest payments; and childcare payments.

People may also want to check whether the tax withheld from paychecks or the estimated taxes a person has been paid will be enough to cover at least 90 percent of the 1992 tax bill. If it is not, you may consider increasing your withholding.

If you haven't filed returns in past years, the IRS can help you. "As part of our non-filer program, our employees have been trained to assist you in obtaining the information you need to file these returns," said Gerard R. Esposito, Boston IRS district director.

For questions or assistance, call the IRS at 1-800-829-1040 or visit a local IRS walk-in office.

Eileen Woods' salary set

Eileen Woods, who was appointed assistant superintendent of schools this summer, was given a three-year, $69,500 contract by the School Committee last week. Under the contract she will also receive 20 vacation days.

Ms. Woods was principal of Sanborn Elementary School for eight years before being chosen for the central office position.

Use your library card!

As a member of the Merrimack Valley Library Consortium, Memorial Hall Library will offer its patrons a state-of-the-art, customized automated upgrade mid-December. Library patrons may expect to see some limitations in computerized services during the second and third weeks of December, while the system is loaded and indexing the almost two million holdings of the MVLC. During the first few days, the public terminals may be searched. However, the information concerning shelf status may not be accurate.

During this time borrowers must bring their library cards to check out any materials. No replacements for lost cards or new registrations can be done during this time. This MVLC upgrade is made possible with a L.S.C. A. Title III grant in the amount of $248,910, funded by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners.

School Street boy, 13, struck by car

By Don Staruk

A 13-year-old School Street boy remained in stable condition Wednesday morning at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston one week after he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle near his home.

Alex Tommasino, of 40 School St., was struck as he came out of Locke Street onto School Street apparently headed toward his home just before 6 p.m. last Wednesday night, Dec. 2. He struck the front left corner of a car driven by Domenic J. Seibert, 16, of 182 Haggetts Pond Road, flew over the hood and struck the top of the windshield, smashing it, then landed on the sidewalk.

He suffered fractured cervical and spinal cord vertebrae, a broken right shin bone and broken left ankle and had no feeling in his hands or his legs, according to police Sgt. William Mackenzie Jr., who is a family friend.

"We're all keeping our fingers crossed," Sgt. Mackenzie said last Friday.

Doctors were hoping that the paralysis would fade as the swelling from the injuries went down, the officer said.

Alex suffered a collapsed lung Monday and had surgery Tuesday, which his father, William Tommasino, said went very well. Mr. Tommasino, on his way back to the hospital Wednesday morning, said it had been a very tough week on the family.

His wife, Linda, has been staying at the hospital.

Family members said Tuesday that neighbors have been very helpful, arranging rides into Boston and making meals for the family. Alex has a younger sister, Jackie, 12, and brother, Scott, 9.

No charges filed in accident

Mr. Seibert will not be charged in the accident, according to investigating officer Harry Collins.

A motorist waiting at the stop sign on Locke Street said Alex went right out into the intersection without stopping. Another motorist traveling south on School Street, which would be coming up the hill, behind Mr. Seibert said Mr. Seibert was traveling about 35 miles an hour. The intersection was dark and Alex had on dark clothing. Mr. Seibert was alone in his car and Alex was apparently riding alone.

"In my opinion, the early darkness was a big contributing factor to the accident," Officer Collins said. "From what I can determine it was an accident, a tragic accident."

Officer Collins couldn't say whether a helmet might have prevented any of Alex's injuries, but he said reflective tape or a reflective vest such as those worn by runners should be worn by bicyclists when riding after dark.

Alex is a student at Doherty Middle School where he recently made the traveling basketball team.

Work is in progress at the Central Street bridge

Work on the Central Street bridge to prepare it for repairs to be done in the spring have been ongoing since the bridge was closed to traffic last month. Bob McQuade, director of the Department of Public Works, said gas company and telephone company employees will remove lines by the end of January. By that time the town should have closed a water main so repair work on the bridge can begin. According to Mr. McQuade, deterioration on the bridge is so bad that even temporary repairs could not be done to open it to traffic now.

"I know it is an inconvenience. But it is so unsound that if we went in to try and make temporary repairs we could make the situation worse. The condition of some of the beams is so bad we cannot just go in and weld in extra support," he said.

By the end of January, preparation work should be done. Repair work can begin and in the spring when the weather is warmer, the concrete deck can be poured.

Mr. McQuade estimates that the bridge will open to traffic by the end of June.

Winter Fun

What to do in Andover for the holidays — and beyond have the kind of holiday fun that lasts long after Jan. 1 — and celebrates the winter season.

Some believe that no group knew how to party during the holidays like the English in Charles Dickens' novels. Stemming from medieval times, they celebrated Christmas Eve, New Year's Eve, and Twelfth Night (Jan. 5) by "wassailing": walking through town carrying a bowl of wassail, a hot, hearty punch made with ale, nutmeg, sugar, ginger and roasted apples.

The word 'wassail' comes from the Norse ves heill, which means "be whole" or "be well." Wassailers drank to the good health of their neighbors and their farm animals, and for an abundant apple harvest. It's said that Dickens immortalized the wassail in The Pickwick Papers as he described Christmas Eve at Dingley Dell: "...they sat down by the huge fire of blazing logs to a substantial supper, and a mighty bowl of wassail, something smaller than an ordinary, wash-house copper, in which the hot apples were hissing and bubbling... 'This,' said Mr. Pickwick, 'this is, indeed, comfort.' " A bowl of wassail to warm the heart can be made by following the recipe in this week's Chef's Corner.

The Townsmen's Winter Fun calendar of events lists more than 100 events: throughout Andover; within the Merrimack Valley; from here to Boston; and from Cape Ann to Cape Cod. The calendar is packed with a smorgasbord of ideas, including holiday house tours, Andover events for young and young-at-heart, Christmas strolls, concerts and plays, First Night celebrations, harbor cruises, maple-sugaring demonstrations, spring flower shows and much more. ▶

Winter 1993's first performance will be the Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre.

Center for the Arts offers diverse lineup of artists in music, dance and jazz, coming to UMass Lowell

The winter season of the 1992-'93 Performing Arts Series at the Center for the Arts, University of Massachusetts Lowell, offers an exciting lineup of nationally and internationally known artists in music, dance and jazz.

The first performance of the new year will be the Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre on Saturday, Feb. 20. One of the country's top regional companies, this troupe's performances feature sumptuous sets, rich costumes, memorable interpretations, exciting soloists and a finely-tuned corps de ballet. They will present works by George Balanchine, Bruce Wells and Alvin Ailey, among others. Tickets are $21, $19 and $17.

On Saturday, Feb. 27, jazz vibes master Gary Burton and his quartet will perform lyrical, melody-oriented music that delights casual listeners and jazz fanatics alike. Mr. Burton has won Grammys and music polls, recorded chart-topping records and pioneered several modern jazz movements. Known for his distinctive four-mallet vibraphone technique and powerful improvisational pyrotechnics, he will be coming to Lowell fresh from an all-star tour of Japan. Tickets are $15, $13 and $11.

As part of their sixth coast-to-coast tour, Ballet Folclorico Nacional will present their extravaganza of Mexican dance and music Friday, March 5. With a never-ending array of costumes and pageantry, Folclorico dazzles audiences with the wild, foot-stomping Zapateado and whirling gaiety of a Jalisco Fiesta to the lyrical Wedding Dance of Micoacan and ancient Yaqui Deer Dance, all underscored with marimbas, trumpets and guitars. Tickets are $23, $21 and $19.

On Sunday, March 7, award-winning pianist Frederick Moyer will pay tribute to the legendary composer/pianist Sergei Rachmaninoff. During his 50-year career, Rachmaninoff performed in more than 200 US cities, one of them Lowell. The works he played in Lowell will be heard in this commemorative concert by Mr. Moyer. This concert will take place at 7 p.m. at the Parker Gallery in the Whistler Museum of Art, 243 Worthen St., Lowell. Tickets are $12.

On Saturday, March 13, The Chieftains will paint the hall green with their rollicking show of traditional Irish jigs, horn pipes, reels and ballads.
